Construction to begin on new home

BY KRISTI MIKKONEN

If you'd like to be an investor in the community of Frederick, here's your chance. The Frederick Economic Development Corporation (FEDC) is listening to the results of an informal housing study completed by a committee from Rise Up & Raise the Bar that says family housing is needed in Frederick. If everything comes together, a new four-bedroom, three-bath home with a two-stall garage could be ready to move into as early as September.

The FEDC is looking for $50,000 in investments in increments of $2,000 to establish a down payment for this and potential future housing projects.

The FEDC will work with Homes Are Possible Inc. in Aberdeen on this project. The expected sale price of the home, to be located on an empty lot northeast of St. Paul's Church, will be $190,000. A similar home in Aberdeen would sell for more than $225,000.

The investments will be tied up for a maximum of nine years with interest payouts every three years. This idea is based on a successful similar project in Herreid, S.D. If you would like more information on either purchasing the home or making an investment of $2,000 or more, contact Gary Peterson at 605-329-7088.

Incumbents re-elected to school board

Voters returned Rich Schlosser and Rich Achen to their spots on the Frederick Area school board in an election on April 9.

The unofficial vote total was Rich Achen – 85, Rich Schlosser – 68, and Heidi Marttila-Losure – 38.

Achen and Schlosser will serve two-year terms.

Incumbent Alex Hart was unopposed in seeking a three-year term.

Volunteers accomplish a lot on Day of Champions

By KRISTI MIKKONEN
Frederick Forward

The 2019 Day of Champions turned out to be a truly great event as forecasted snow and rain did not arrive.

Thirty-six Northern State University student athletes volunteered in Frederick. Another 16 worked on clean-up projects in Westport. Additionally, another 50 people or more Frederick and Westport area residents helped either with the projects around town or preparing and donating food for the lunches. A lot was accomplished. Many hands truly made light work.

Projects all over town got done, including:

- interior painting at the Community Store
- exterior painting at the

Historical Society

- clean-up of the Library and outside picnic shelter there
- Simmons Park leaves, twigs and branches picked up (There's still more to do with all the flooding, just not enough time.)
- Painting, hauling and clean-up at Sacred Heart Church in Westport
- All over Frederick & Westport there was flooding clean-up and/or curbside pick-up of garbage, old furniture, and appliances

A sincere thanks to all the Northern Students as all the great community volunteers who made a difference in the Frederick and Westport communities.

Plan now to avoid 'learning loss'

BY JESSICA RINGGENBERG
Frederick Area Principal

PRINCIPAL'S CORNER

It is hard to believe that another school year has come and gone already! I want to start by congratulating the graduating class of 2019. High school comes with many challenges, and the earning of this diploma should not be taken lightly. Be proud of your many accomplishments! I hope that you all will reflect fondly on the memories gained here at the Frederick Area School and return to be supporters of future graduates.

Speaking of diplomas and the skills needed to earn them, I want to remind our readers about the dangers of summer learning loss. The statistics are alarming. Although summer is a much needed break from the routine and structure of school, on average students lose a whole month's worth of learning over the summer. This adds up quickly. Students who suffer from summer learning loss can unfortunately, by 6th grade, fall up to two years behind their classmates! This month of loss takes about six weeks of recovery time when students return to school in the fall, so instead of learning new material, time is spent getting students "back up to speed."

So what can you as parents, families, or caregivers do to prevent summer learning loss?

First, read ... read ... read! Visit your local library, allow children to check out books of their own interests, and find creative ways to make reading fun. Try having children read in the morning, before the craziness of the day takes over. Even 10 minutes a day will have a huge impact!

To make reading more fun, take a book to the beach or park to read, or have students make videos of themselves reading a book to share with you (or grandparents!) later, or read while you eat breakfast, or read the billboards aloud as you travel. The important thing here is to make sure that students continue to read regularly over the course of the summer.

Math skills are important too! Doing things like counting the coins in your pocket every night, telling you the time on an analog clock and determining what time that fun summer movie will be over, or adding up the amount of money you will be spending to get your family in at the pool are ways to practice learning without students even knowing it.

I hope you all have a fantastic summer, filled with fun and learning! I am excited to see what next fall brings for you all.

Senior Citizens Club may disband

It is always hard to say good-bye whether to family or friends or in our case, an organization—the Senior Citizens Club of Frederick. Our membership is getting fewer and fewer with no new ones to take their place. In 1974, Lillian Dosch Marttila saw a need in the social life of many Frederick senior citizens. With the help of others, she started the club. It soon had members from Forbes, Ellendale, Hecla, Aberdeen, Westport and Barnard as well as Frederick. At one time, there were 70 members.

All you have to do is look at their photograph album to see what wonderful times were had. Now we are down to eight members and question whether to continue or not. Some of us are in our 90s.

We only meet once a month on a Tuesday. In June we have a picnic, and in November and December we have a full dinner at noon.

We would love to have you join us—the next meeting is May 14 at 1:30. Our dues are only $5 per year and we take turns serving lunch. Give any of the officers a call with questions.

LearnX has two goals: learning and connection

By TAMIE L. NICKELSON

“The quality of your life is the quality of your relationships,” says Tony Robbins.

To me, there is importance in a hand shake, a pat on the back or a friendly smile. The sound of laughter is honey for my soul. I see these connections throughout our community, yet sometimes I feel disconnected from the community and even from my closest friends. How and when do we take the time to be with one another?

I know, personally, that I need a reason, a time, and a location in order to do something out of my usual schedule. I also need to give myself permission to stop all other tasks and take that time.

Is this true of other people as well? I decided to find out. LearnX is intended to get people to the same place at the same time talking about the same thing. It is the project I’ve worked on as part of the S.D. Change Network. I’ve been assisted by my local champion in the program, Heidi Marttila-Losure.

With LearnX, residents can have open discussions, exchange ideas, experience things together and exercise their minds. I believe everyone has something to learn and something they can teach another person. There is no cost for experiencing LearnX (donations are welcome to fund future projects).

So far LearnX has held classes on How to Take Better Photos and Basic Excel. On June 5, we plan to have an interactive discussion/workshop on Recycling: What Can We Do? On July 17, we’ll revisit photography with Organizing and Editing Photos. Many other ideas are being added to the list. Information will be shared in F.Y.I. and on Facebook.

I have so many questions: What do we want as a community? What are the community’s past successes and struggles, current problems to address, and the direction we want to go?

Recycling: What Can We Do?

TIME: 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

DATE: Wednesday, June 5

WHERE: St. Paul’s Lutheran Church Hall

WHAT: This is a conversation about recycling possibilities and challenges for our communities. How are people recycling now (or not)? What resources are available for recycling programs? Information will be presented by Tamie Nickelson and Connie Groop. The conversation part of the event will be led by Heidi Marttila-Losure.

HOW: The conversation event is free, but registration is requested: Please email Nickelson at LearnX4FA@gmail.com or text 605-329-7094 if you’d like to attend.

What do we have in common? What differences can we celebrate? Who is missing from the discussion table? What can we rally around?

Franklin D. Roosevelt said: “If civilization is to survive, we must cultivate the science of human relationships ... the ability of all peoples, of all kinds, to live together, in the same world, at peace.”

I want more than just survival. It is vitally important for each of us to feel safe, loved, and wanted. I want to live in a community where we look after each other, that is safe, where love and friendship are unconditional.

By sharing information and building connections, LearnX can help us start building the kind of community we want. I hope you will decide to take part! Come to learn, or volunteer to teach a skill or start a conversation. E-mail LearnX4FA@gmail.com or text 605-329-7094.

GOLF

Spring's late arrival means few meets for Frederick Area golfers

The second year of the revival of Frederick's golf team has gotten off to slow start.

"The golf meets that were originally scheduled up until this point for the most part, have all been cancelled or postponed," said Coach Jeff Kosters.

The team has five members this spring. Four of them are freshmen: Kash Cutler, Mason Hinz, Darin McGaugh, and Aiden Nickelson. McKinley Kosters (7th grade) is the fifth member of the group.

The goals for the rest of the year are simple, Kosters said: "I have a young group of kids this year, and for three of them, it is their first time experiencing golf. I would expect to see improvement in each of them from when we began practice until the final meet of the spring. That is something I expect and a more than realistic goal as well."

Kosters hopes to add more students next season. "Last year was the first year we had golf here at Frederick Area for a few years. I finished the season with four kids last year, and two of them decided not to return this year. Ideally, it would be nice to keep the kids I have and perhaps add a few new faces as we move along as well."

Students say 'I Hate Winter' at Family Fun Night

Frederick Area elementary students took part in summer-themed games at the school's annual Family Fun Night. The event is a celebration of students' participation in a reading challenge and a chance for families to gather at the school for an evening that's not academic. Here are a few scenes from the evening.

TRACK

Track meets are few, thanks to weather

Weather has created a very limited track schedule this spring for Frederick athletes, with 14 meets canceled. As of the beginning of May, the track team had attended only four meets.

Coach Marty Morlock said he told the kids that they need whatever they could to maintain their productivity. "If we have a good day to compete or train, we need to make sure we are putting forth the effort that makes us better—running hard in practice, preparing for the meets we get to go to, weather permitting," he said.

Twenty-eight students are out for track, but only 11 of them are high school students. There are two seniors, one junior, three sophomores, five freshmen, five eighth-graders, 10 seventh-graders, and two sixth-graders.

The goal for the younger athletes is in large part trying different events to see where they might find success. "I have been impressed with most of the students' effort and flexibility in trying new events and competing," Morlock said.

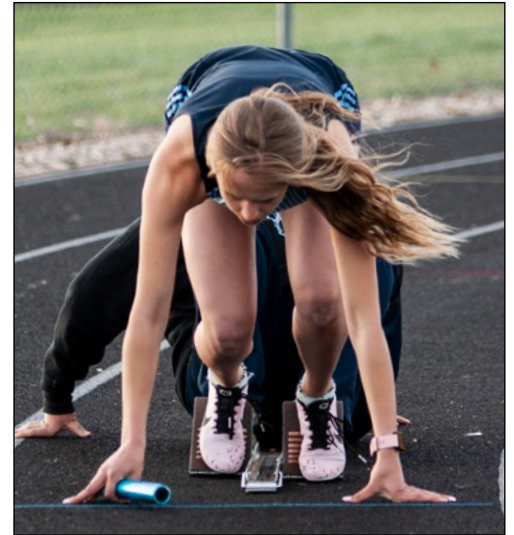

The bar is higher for high school athletes, though they aren't likely to come home with team honors very often because there are so few of them. "I plan on the Frederick Titans playing a spoiler role," Morlock said. Doing better than they have at the previous meet is also a goal at each meet. "If we can get new PRs (personal records), I view it as a success," he said.

The high school athletes set their sights making it to the state track meet. They could qualify for state in two ways: either achieving the standards set for each event set by the SDHSAA, or by being one of the top two finishers at the region meet on May 16. The goal for the junior high athletes is to come home with a medal from regions. "Not every kid is going to achieve their goal, but that is fine," Morlock said. "As long as they compete with a purpose, and do their best, that is the goal that matters."

Sam Vetter takes off in the 4x400-meter relay at the Roncalli junior high meet April 25 in Aberdeen.

Brooklyn Podoll gets ready to take off for the 4x400-meter relay on April 23 in Ipswich.

Will Nordine runs the first leg of a relay on April 23 in Ipswich.

Donated by Delores Anderson - Class of 1961

Frederick Area students will have a sense of the great athletes who came before them, thanks to a gift from the family of the late Delores Anderson. A board displaying the track and field records of Frederick students is being installed in the gym. The oldest record is held by Ed Schense (a younger sibling of the Schense quintets, who received fame by being one of the first sets of quintuplets), who ran the 100-meter dash in 10.90 seconds in 1956. Alex Sumption has the most recent records on the board, with 22.46 seconds in the 200-meter dash, 6'6" in the high jump and 21' 8 1/4" in the long jump. Take some time to go through the list to find other local residents who have held onto records for decades!
