We Dedicate With Pride, Our 1979 Viking

We, the graduating class of 1979, dedicate our Viking to you who have stood by us, laughed with us, and learned with us. Our thanks to you, a very understanding and well-deserving couple, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson.

With you, Mrs. Nelson, we share the memories of . . . your endless patience with the many frustrations that went along with our first year of typing, with the end-of-the-day blues in shorthand, with the mischievous giggling cousins, and with timers that rang without warning all by themselves. Thank you, Mrs. Nelson, for keeping our personal talks confidential, for giving us the faith in you that you deserve, and for caring about us not only as students, but as one of your own.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson take time out to relax at the prom.

With you, Mr. Nelson, we share the memories of . . . our ninth grade science class in which you tried so hard to teach us something, and your chemistry students laughing at you when you called pants, trousers. Thank you, Mr. Nelson, for putting up with someone always asking for a party on any slight occasion, and for being able to turn them down without making them feel deprived, for not letting your nerves control the better part of you in drivers' ed. classes no matter how bad the driving was, especially in Aberdeen, and for trusting even some of the lead-foot drivers in our class who loved nothing more than to put the accelerator through the floorboard, for overlooking those occasional accidents in chemistry, and for being so generous concerning the tests that we insisted could not be on the days planned by changing them to suit our needs.

To a couple who have gained respect from everyone you have taught throughout the years, and who hold a special place in our memories, to you, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, we dedicate with pride, our 1979 Viking.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson hold the plaque the seniors presented them at awards night to honor the memory of their dedication.

Life is a road, from the first day of school to the day of graduation, with each piece of the way a stumbling-block or a stepping-stone.

They were introduced to new volleyball techniques in their physical education class and later participated in tournaments. In their co-ed classes they also took part in basketball tournaments, team handball, and deck tennis.

The required sophomore classes were as follows: English 10, biology, typewriting, physical education, and drivers' education. Their elective classes were geometry, world history, and home economics.

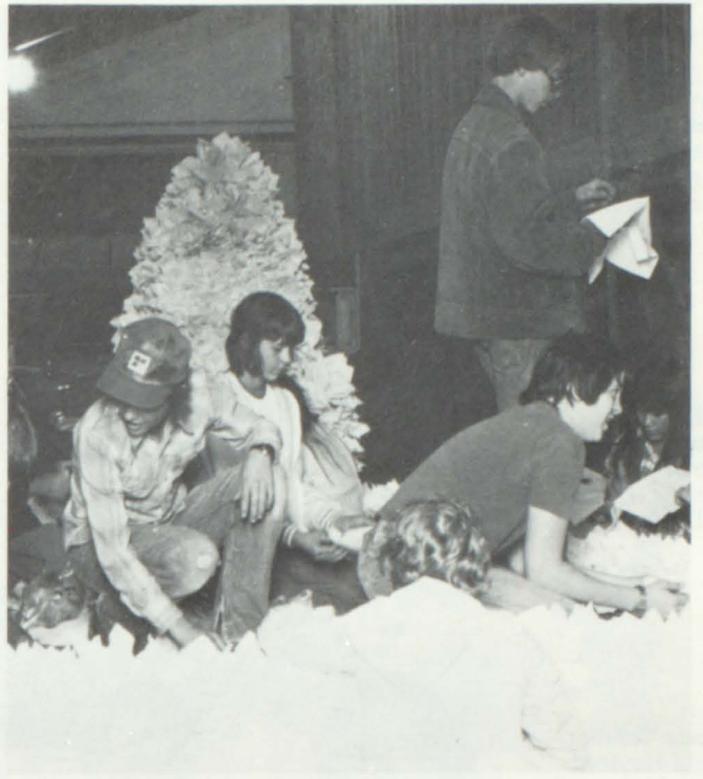

The sophomore class advisors were Mr. Roger Kendall and Mrs. Carrie Lashly.

The 1978-79 Sophomore Class Officers are: Lana Bain-President, Brian Hemen-Vice President, and Wendy Jensen-Secretary-Treasurer.

The sophomore English class covers a section on grammar in their workbooks. Along with writing and giving speeches, they also took part in panel discussions.

Juniors Put The Pieces In Place

The 1978-79 junior class began the school year by capturing first place in both the skit and float competition during homecoming activities. The float was centered around World War II and Nazi Germany. The skit was a take-off from the Watergate trials and was titled "The Locker Room Break-in."

The juniors were kept busy all year with concession stand sales at football games and boys' and girls' basketball games. They made additional money by sponsoring a chili supper which was a tremendous success. Class advisors were Mrs. Marla Walz and Mrs. Bernice Rollo.

Kelly McCulloch, Donna Ulmer, and Laurie Speidel take time out from their busy concession stand sales to pose for the photographer. The junior class worked earnestly all year to raise money for the prom.

Seniors

Class of '79 Has It All Together

The 1979 senior year was filled with various activities for the class to participate in. A Career Night at Aberdeen Central was held on October 2, 1978, for their future college choices. On February 6, 1979, the senior class ventured to Pierre, South Dakota, to visit the state capitol while the legislature was in session. They also had the opportunity to tour a museum filled with intriguing South Dakota artifacts.

This year, a great majority of senior class attended the State "B" Boys' Basketball Tournament held in Rapid City.

The senior class concluded its association with Frederick High School with the senior night out at the Aberdeen Elks Lodge, the Prom, and graduation.

Completion Of Bandroom Brings Changes

With the completion of the new music room, Frederick High School was without construction or renovation for the first time in several years. Now all classes except biology, physics, and chemistry, which are held in the adjacent building, can be held in the completed facility.

The basic senior high school grammar, spelling, and composition skills were stressed throughout the year in freshman and sophomore English. Composition requirements were mostly in the area of short essay in sophomore English. Two research reports were made in which students had to use library sources and write the account according to research rules.

The literature of the junior year was a study of American writers. Three major modern American novels were studied. A unit on American poetry was studied in the spring. More advanced grammar and vocabulary-spelling skills were dealt with. Punctuation was a very important feature in all composition work. Over 200 spelling words commonly misspelled in daily writing were studied this year.

The grammar skills reviewed were an intensive study of verbs and usage in senior English. There were vocabulary studies every week along with both grammar and literature assignments. A research paper was completed in the spring. Compositions included research on the historical background of English literature, familiar essays, creative writing, and short reports.

The students in shorthand strived to write business letters at a high rate of speed. They began by learning the basic forms and then enlarging their shorthand vocabulary by learning brief forms and phrases. The latter part of the year was spent increasing speed by taking timings.

Office practice provided students with a knowledge of a variety of office machines such as the mimeograph, ditto machines, calculators, and stenocords. The students also worked on the annual throughout the year.

Students in bookkeeping started the year by learning the basics, such as assets, liabilities, and capital. They spent time with different kinds of forms and journals.

The sociology class took part in a simulated wedding. Each student was required to plan a wedding of his own. Students spent the first semester studying how humans behave in group situations. The second semester, psychology, was spent studying the behavior of individuals.

Students in Algebra I, geometry, Algebra II, and senior math attended the Northern Math Contest at Northern State College once again this year.

All sophomores were required to take driver's education. Each student had approximately six weeks of instruction from a handbook, and then approximately six hours of driving and observation time.

In world history class a study of global history was emphasized. Backgrounds, values, and ideals of people from different time periods and other parts of the world were studied. The students minds were opened to a fascinating area of study, spanning prehistoric man to modern man.

U.S. History class featured a new textbook entitled Two Centuries of Progress. Various unit features in the text were employed to strengthen the students' understanding of the American past. The course was divided into eight units, each dealing with a particular time span.

In American Government the students learned that our government is a complex system composed of many interrelated parts. The material analyzed in the course included basic knowledge essential to the understanding of the American governmental system.

The physical education classes were involved in various tournaments including volleyball, basketball, and badminton.

The freshman science class studied general science which was a continued study from middle school. Physics students worked problems and also did experiments. The biology students studied mainly along the line of the animal kingdom. They dissected crayfish, grasshoppers, and other various types of invertebrates.

The home economic classes studied food preparation, nutrition, and clothing construction. During the cooking unit, students baked cakes and then learned basic decorating techniques.

In general business, the freshman students learned good check writing procedures and how to apply general information for good consumer practices.

ACTIVITIES

Lisa And Len Reign Over Homecoming

"Historical Events" provided the theme for the 1978 Homecoming Festivities. Activities got under way with the coronation-pep fest on Wednesday evening, October 4. Skits were presented by each class, with the junior skit entitled "The Locker-gate Break-in" taking first place. The 1977 Homecoming Queen, Carla Engelhart, with the help of Rick Reisdorph, crowned Lisa Heier and Lenny Albrecht as the new royalty for 1978. Kermit Cantwell and Donna Ulmer served as honor guards for the occasion. Kiersten Neuhardt and Eric Sumption carried the crowns of the new royalty. The pep band, under the direction of Roger Kendall, entertained the audience with the selection "Rocky". A bonfire-pep fest was held on Friday evening prior to the game, followed by a snake dance down to the football field.

"Hillbilly Weddin" was the title of the junior class play which was held on Friday, March 23, 1979. It was a three-act comedy that revolved around the Belsnickle family, their neighbors, and two slickers. The action centered around the family trying to get the oldest daughter, Ceelie (Kelly M.), married. The plot started unraveling when Ceelie received her first bath in preparation for her marriage to the city dude, Ronald Maxwell (Kermit C.). From there the characters moved through a feud between the Belsnickles and Upschlagers. The play concluded with a shotgun wedding at which Ceelie decided she didn't want the city dude but Obeey Upschlager (Grant B.) instead.

The senior class presented "Rest Assured" on Friday, December 1, 1978, which was directed by Bernice Rollo with the assistance of Beth Cantwell, Kathy Karjalainen, and Nancy Berniklau. The three-act comedy centered around Mr. Morlock (James P.), a money hungry businessman who hardly even noticed Mrs. Morlock (Cathy M.) or his daughter Jessica (Patty E.).

The Morlock household was in an uproar when Mr. Morlock refused to let his daughter Mary (Lisa H.) become engaged to Joe Lanconi (Darren E.) because Joe's papa, Luigi, (Keith K.) was poor. When Luigi tried to plead his son's case, they got into a scuffle which resulted in Luigi's death. Luigi, though, obtained permission to haunt Mr. Morlock until he gave permission for the wedding. Mr. Morlock's family thought he had lost his marbles when he began to talk to Luigi whom they could not see. Poor Mr. Morlock was so upset by this ghost that he "accidentally" took too many sleeping pills and died also.

Mr. Morlock watched life proceed as if nothing had happened. Realizing that no one missed him, Mr. Morlock saw what a heel he had been. He began wishing that he could have one more chance when Mildred the maid (Connie M.) woke him up from his nightmare. A very reformed Mr. Morlock made vast promises, gave permission for the wedding, and peace finally reigned at the Morlock's.

The Student Council organized several activities for the students to participate in during the eventful year. They arranged successfully the events for a colorful homecoming week. A record hop for the Sweetheart Dance was also a project of the Student Council.

Mr. Lee Greer, the new librarian at Frederick this year, received his B.A. degree at Baylor University and his M.A. at the University of Wyoming. He is freshman class advisor.

The Vikings were never quite the same after they suffered an 8-0 loss to Bristol in the third game of the season. After that game the offense never got on track and the Vikings suffered through the last six games without scoring a point. The Vikings were led in the rushing department by Dave Hinz, with 407 yards. Todd Ellwein tallied the most points for the Vikings this season with 16 points. The defense was led by Todd Ellwein who had 81 tackles. Lenny Albrecht and Todd Ellwein were named to the 1978 Lake Region All-Conference football team. You are not forgotten loved one Nor will you ever be,

As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.

Junior Band Sees Additon Of Tonettes

The band program at the Barnard Elementary Center saw the addition of a group of tonette players from the 5th grade.
