1982 Viking

A time for celebration, remembering old times, and renewing friendships—this is the year of Frederick's Centennial and an all-school reunion.

Shown on the cover is the official Frederick Centennial Seal. The true spirit of Frederick's younger days was captured in the lower scenes while Frederick's present history can be viewed in the upper scenes. The division pages in this book show the seal in half sections.

Within these pages are yet more reasons for celebrations, both individual as well as group. As each year goes by, new memories are created daily, new experiences gained, and numerous goals achieved.

This yearbook was put together in the hopes of capturing the individual as well as group celebrations and providing a picture book of memories to look back to.

Then . . .

In Frederick's younger days it was a bustling community serving the surrounding area. People came by the most popular means of transportation, horse and buggy, to trade and do business with the numerous shops.

Train service that ran through the town provided another means of transportation and communication with outlying areas. Telegraph service was also a form of communication located at the train depot.

A trip to the movie house, which had an admission price of 15¢, along with the occasional dance provided the town with entertainment.

Frederick provided educational opportunities in its local school along with worship services of three churches.

A hotel and rooming house accommodated travelers, while a livery stable took care of the needs of the horses and buggies.

Now . . .

The city of Frederick today contains a small number of businesses by which it serves the community. The livery stable of the past has been replaced by modern service stations which provide gasoline and other products necessary for the care and upkeep of our modern form of transportation - automobiles.

Telephones have replaced the telegraph service due to the availability and simplicity of the modern system of communication.

In 1981, the long running train service discontinued its route through Frederick; thus railroad service became a part of the historic past.

Education has continued to progress to a modern twelve year program. Through the years the towns of Westport and Barnard have joined Frederick to create the Elm Valley School District.

With the modern forms of transportation and communication, the citizens of Frederick are able to commute back and forth to jobs in neighboring towns such as Aberdeen. Aberdeen also provides a variety of entertainment which can be enjoyed by the community of Frederick.

What's happening at F.H.S.

The students of Frederick have definitely developed their own style and attitude. While each individual was his or her own person, he was also very fortunate to be a member of a close-knit school of familiar friends. The 1981-82 school year seemed to whiz by with all the activities and involvements of a typical year.

Many students spent their noon hours relaxing and listening to music at the Frederick Area Teen Center. Others just stayed at the school mingling with friends until the 12:30 p.m. classes began.

Some popular pastimes of the guys and girls were: reading, listening to music, and playing electronic games and basketball. On weekends or during sparetime the kids liked attending movies, dances, and parties.

Overall, the 1981-82 school year was an unforgettable addition to the many cherished memories of our years at F.H.S.

We salute you— Mrs. Rollo

We the Frederick High Senior class of nineteen hundred and eighty-two, dedicate our Viking to you, Mrs. Rollo, with deep appreciating for your over-abundance of patience and kindness. You have spent immeasurable amounts of time working with us, and we have most-assuredly reaped the benefits of your excellent and successful teaching ability. Through you, we understand the importance of being skilled in all the aspects of grammar and our English language.

We sincerely appreciate your disregard for the many times that the class got out-of-line and uncontrollable, due to the final months of spring fever and senioritis. During these unruly class periods, our respect for you, personally, never wavered.

We cannot thank you enough for the valuable knowledge that you have engraved into our beings, knowledge that each of us will use every day of our lives.

So with deeply-felt gratitude, we salute you—Mrs. Rollo.

Freshmen encounter new experiences

The 1981-82 school year held many challenges for the Freshmen Class. They were introduced to new subjects such as: general business where they learned many things ranging from how to figure income tax to balancing a checkbook, English where reading and grammar were comprehended, science where experiments were tested, algebra or general math where the fundamentals of numbers and equations were learned, and physical education where students learned how to exercise correctly and participate in co-ed games. Many students also exhibited their talents in extra curricular activities.

The freshmen took part in the homecoming festivities including the sale of each student in the Annual Slave Day Auction, when each freshmen was bought by members of the faculty and the student body. Money collected from the auction went into the student council treasury.

The class selected four contestants to vie for the title of Frederick's Junior Snow Queen. Chosen were: Renee Kolb, Leta Ulmer, Melissa Bain, and Sonya Mikkonen. They appeared in Frederick's 1982 Snow Queen Contest where the winner, Sonya Mikkonen, was crowned by last year's Junior Snow Queen, Jeanie Ronning. Sonya represented Frederick in the 1982 South Dakota Snow Queen Festival held in Aberdeen.

Several students met to bake their first entry in the annual cake decorating contest held at the sweetheart dance. The freshmen received a second placing in the competition. Roxanne Curtis and Heath Martin were chosen by their classmates to serve as sweetheart candidates for the freshmen class.

Sophomores drive on to finish first half of FHS years

The 1981-82 Sophomore class began the year successfully by receiving the second place award in the float competition during Homecoming with "The Vikings Have a 100 Year Tradition 'Victory'" being the title of their float.

During their study of the library, sophomores went to Aberdeen. While there, they visited the Alexander-Mitchell Library and the library at Northern State College. Some of the sophomores were waiters, waitresses, hosts, and hostesses for the Junior-Senior Prom this year.

Required courses for a sophomores curriculum included: biology, English 10, typewriting, physical education, and driver's education. Elective courses were home economics, geometry, or world history.

Mr. Al Lugauer and Mr. Darryl Walz advised the class in all their projects.

Juniors easily handle new responsibilities.

The 1981-1982 school year was quite an achievement for the junior class. The concession stand was open for all home football games, girls', boys', and junior high basketball games. During the games the students took their turn working in the stand. They used the money earned for building their float entitled "We're gonna whip their tails and plow'em under," complete with a 4x2x4 stuffed donkey and an old walking plow portraying the Frederick Centennial theme. In the competition the float received a first place rating for upholding the theme, originality, and beauty.

A chili supper was held on January 12, 1982 in the Frederick gymnasium before the Frederick vs. Hecla boys' basketball game. The juniors, their class advisors, Mrs. Susan Maunu and Mrs. Marla Walz, along with the students' mothers helped to serve the supper to people from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Many of the juniors discovered new acting abilities for the Junior-Senior Play. Hard, long hours were spent during last hour activity period and several nights after school preparing for the event directed by Mrs. Carrie Lashly.

Proceeds from the concession stand and chili supper were used to provide decorations and a delicious supper for the Junior-Senior Prom.

By studying the past, we have lived in the present . . .

The 1982 seniors walked into the Frederick High School to begin their final year on August 24, 1981. This day proved to be the beginning of a busy and active year for the '82' graduates.

Many of the class members participated in the annual Career Night held at Aberdeen Central on October 12. During the evening, these students were given the chance to talk with different representatives from various colleges and receive help in making their final college choice.

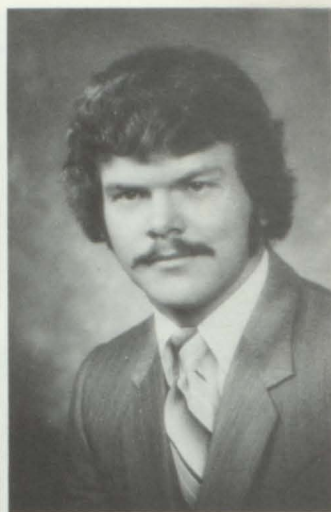

The American Legion's Government Day in Aberdeen was held on December 4. Eight senior class members participated in a tour of various government offices, the county jail, and also listen to the municipal court in action.

The senior class trip to Pierre, which was first scheduled for January 29, was rescheduled for February 10 due to winter weather conditions. The trip provided the students a chance to tour the capitol building and view the legislative branch of government in action. The student's were also given time to tour the War Museum before returning home.

Fourteen senior members participated in the State 'B' activities held in Sioux Falls on March 11-13.

The busy year continued through May with final group and individual activities including the Junior-Senior Prom, awards night, senior night out at the Elks, the senior tea, held in the home of Mrs. Don Quimby, and graduation May 23rd.

'RACE' - topic of commencement address

The evening commencement exercises passed quickly for the graduating students at Frederick High School on Sunday, May 23, 1982. The invocation was given by Pastor Joanne Nagele followed by a vocal selection entitled "Just a Closer Walk with Thee" sung by the mixed vocal ensemble. Then, Superintendent Don Quimby introduced the guest speaker, Lieutenant Governor Lowell Hansen. His message to the graduates bordered on the theme that if each person had 'RACE', then each would be successful in life. The meaning of 'RACE' was: R-religious ways; A-be accountable; C-caring for others; E-effort. Following the commencement address, the boys' vocal ensemble sang a selection called "Climbin' Up the Mountain."

Mr. Steven Selchert, principal, presented the class of 1982 to the President of the school board, Mr. Darrell Emery, who handed out the diplomas. The graduates were led to the receiving line by Rajean Anderson and Tim Irion with Anita Livermont accompanying on the piano.

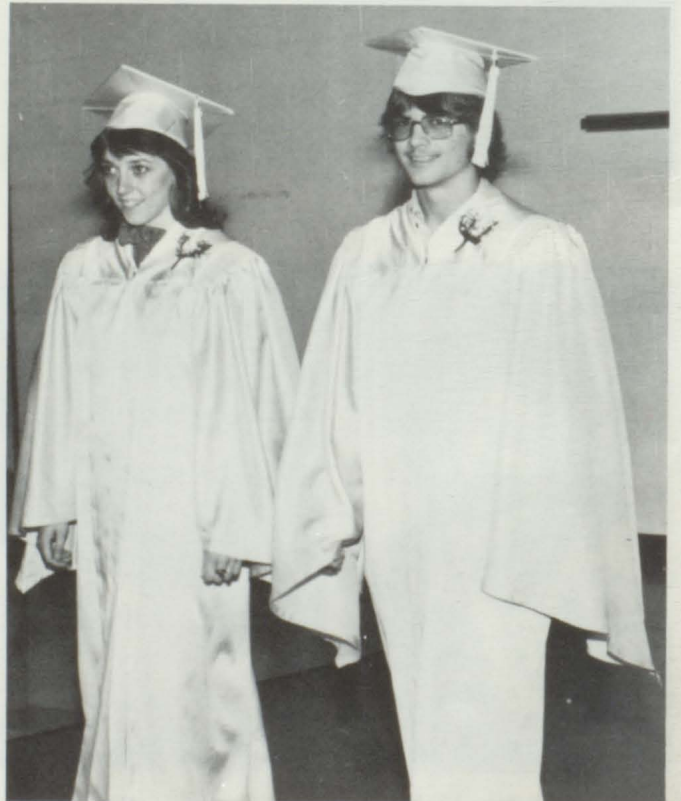

Graduates with honors were: Dan Cantwell, Denise Ellwein, Stacey Mikkonen, Leslie Podoll, Kurt Selzle, Kraig Smith, Wade VanDover, and Stacey Wilson.

Seniors enjoy final class activities

After going to the school board in request for a skip day, the senior class was granted May 14, to skip. The class enjoyed spending the day together at the Holiday Inn in Aberdeen.

At 3 p.m. Wednesday, May 19, the senior girls along with female faculty members, wives of the school board members, and wives of the school administrators, gathered at the home of Mrs. Don Quimby for the annual senior tea. The hostesses of the tea were Mrs. Quimby and Mrs. Selchert. Tina Mikkonen and Tina McCulloch aided the hostesses by serving punch, coffee, and lunch to the guests.

Senior night out was held on the same day as the senior tea. The class enjoyed an evening at the Elks where class funds were used to purchase the smorgasbord meal. Other guests for the evening were Superintendent Quimby and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Selchert, and Mrs. Lashly. Senior class advisors for the year were Mr. Selchert and Mrs. Lashly.

Vocational school adds industrial variety

The Hub Area Vocational school located in Aberdeen was the site for many new learning experiences for students of F.H.S. Frederick students were involved in seven of the many courses offered.

Students taking part in the agri-business course gained knowledge concerning the skills of agricultural production, business, and management. Throughout the year they tested crops and soil content, discovering proper planting methods.

Frederick students learned car repair skills in auto mechanics class. They learned how to repair cars and the many steps of automotive operation. The year was divided into four parts—tune-up, engine service, electrical systems, and chasis.

Building trade participants learned many carpentry skills during their classroom time only to distribute their skills by constructing a house. They also learned how to weld and wire.

Commercial foods class was the site for students who learned cooking skills, food budgeting, proper storage, proper temperatures, waiter or waitressing duties and dishwashing.

The basic electronics course proved to be very challenging to students as they discovered the basics of electricity. With their knowledge they repaired electrical equipment throughout the year.

Students learned health care techniques and studied medical occupations. They also learned CPR and other various medical treatments.

Students taking the radio and T.V. communications course learned the fundamentals of video taping and photography throughout the year.

New instructors joined FHS staff

Four new members were added to the Frederick High School 1981-82 faculty, making a total of eleven staff members.

He was originally from Caledonia, Minnesota, and earned his degree from upper Iowa University, Fayette, Iowa. He is presently taking graduate work in special education and guidance from Winona State. Mr. Lugauer resides in Frederick.

Mrs. Judy Bretsch, who assisted the high school special education program, fulfilled her duties from October to January. Mrs. Bretsch, her husband, and son live on a farm near Frederick. Mrs. Bretsch devotes most of her spare time to reading, cleaning house and jogging.

The librarian, Mrs. Sharon O'Donnell maintained an active schedule as a librarian at the public library in Aberdeen, Alexander Mitchell.

In her spare time Mrs. O'Donnell likes to make pottery, read, and cook.

Mrs. O'Donnell also received a Bachelor of Science Degree at Montana State and a Library Media Degree at Northern. She and her husband live in Aberdeen.

Mr. Kendall, his wife, and family reside in Frederick. Writing music, painting, golfing, and sitting down to a good movie or book fill his extra moments.

Mrs. Carrie Lashly, a rural Aberdeen resident, was the home economics and freshmen class English instructor. Mrs. Lashly, her husband, and their two daughters live on a small farm. She finds sewing, reading, gardening, and walking relaxing activities in her spare time.

Mrs. Lashly has taught throughout Oklahoma and Arizona and in Rapid City in previous years. Mrs. Lashly tried something new by having all the home economics' sewing units the first semester and all the food units second semester.

Mrs. Susan Maunu received a four year degree from Dakota State.

A native of South Dakota, Mrs. Maunu has lived in this area all her life. She is married and has a son. Crocheting, baking and reading are among Mrs. Maunu's favorite pastimes. Having been chairman of the snow queen contest, Mrs. Maunu enjoyed sharing the special event with the girls.

Mrs. Bernice Rollo headed the FHS English department. She brightened her room by making her own bulletin boards. Mrs. Rollo dedicated most of her time to her many English classes. Majors in history, biology, and chemistry and a masters in English gave Mrs. Rollo the opportunity to teach a variety of subjects in Bristol and Ellendale before coming to Frederick.

During her limited leisure time she enjoys reading, sewing, listening to semi-classical music, refinishing furniture, and having friends in.

Mr. Darryl Walz, who received his college education from Northern State College, directed the social studies and physical education classes. These included world history, U.S. history, government, and freshman and sophomore physical education.

During his free time he enjoys playing and umpiring softball and baseball. Hunting and cutting wood also relax him during his free moments.

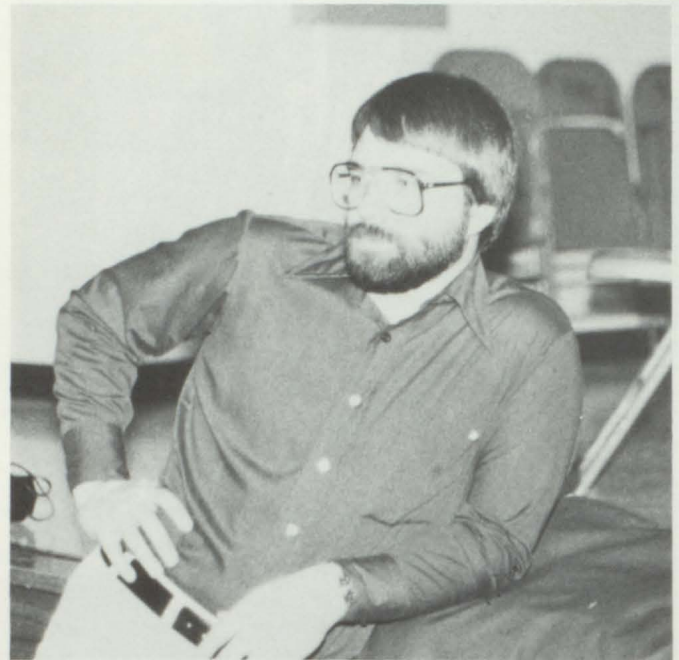

Mr. Walz received new books in world history and government; therefore he had more updated information to teach.

Returning for another year of teaching was Mrs. Marla Walz. Mrs. Walz's classes included general math, Algebra I, Algebra II, geometry, senior math, and computer science. A new class, computer science, was added in which programming and problem solving were studied. She got her start in teaching at Frederick after a short stay in North Platte, Nebraska.

Living in Frederick with her husband and two sons, Mrs. Walz enjoys passing the time with needlework, sewing, reading, and watching athletics.

Other duties undertaken by Mrs. Walz included drill team and cheerleader advisors.

February first Mrs. Judy Bretsch was replaced by Mrs. Jean Selchert, who quickly got into the routine of things as the Elm Valley School District's special education assistant. She, her husband, and their six children live in Frederick. Mrs. Selchert devotes most of her spare time to caring for her family, sewing, and attending different sports activities.

She is assisted with duty by Mr. Terry Cormier, the school psychologist. He serves nine school districts including Elm Valley, Warner, Groton, Redfield, Northwestern, Conde, Doland, Bristol, and Hecla, making his rounds to Frederick once a month. Mr. Cormier enjoys cross country ski racing, bicycling, jogging, tennis, and golf. Mr. Cormier lives in Aberdeen with his wife and his pet dog.

The school board met the second Monday of every month. The meetings were held alternately at Frederick and Barnard. The business manager, Mrs. Sheryl Nixon, whose job included attending the meetings, kept records, and published the minutes in the Brown County News.

One of the big tasks for the school board was to help Mr. Quimby, the superintendent, plan the budget for each year. They authorized decisions for maintaining the school buildings, buses, and purchasing the necessary supplies and equipment used during the school year. Employing administration, teachers, and personnel, was a board decision. The district thus offered an adequate academic program, participated in the vocational program in Aberdeen, and offered several extra-curricular activities.

Mrs. Sheryl Nixon, business manager, fulfilled her duties for the fiscal year.

Undertaking the duties of principal and guidance counselor was Mr. Steven Selchert. Mr. Selchert, along with his wife and their six children, live in Frederick. Mr. Selchert coached football, boys' basketball as well as both girls' and boys' track. His interest in sports took up most of his spare time as he enjoys bowling as well as umpiring baseball and softball.

Mr. Selchert attended Dakota State at Madison, South Dakota, for four years to get his P.E., history, and social studies composite majors, and his Master of Secondary Education, Administration and Guidance degree from SDSU.

The school secretary is Mrs. Patricia Dennert. The variety of her work impresses Mrs. Dennert as the most interesting aspect of her job.

A new addition was added to the administrative tools at FHS, a plain paper copier. The machine is used to copy printed material, as well as, information typed on regular paper and anything else that needs a duplicate copy.

Homecoming creates centennial memories

Homecoming week started early on Friday with a freshman slave auction. A few faculty members were also auctioned off. Coaches Steve Selchert and Darryl Walz were sold to the senior football players, and a new member of the faculty, Al Lugauer, was also sold to the football team. The following week went as follows: Hat & Glasses Day, Dress-up & Slave Day, Centennial Day, Dress-down Day, and Maroon & Gold Day. On Tuesday the freshmen were busy carrying books, cleaning out lockers, and other chores delegated to them by their owners for the day. On Thursday everybody worked on floats for the parade, which had the theme of "Elm Valley Centennial Memories."

Coronation and a bonfire were held on Thursday night. Scott McCullough and Denise Ellwein were crowned the 1981 Homecoming King and Queen. Cory Maunu and Jana Selchert served as crown bearers. Honor guards for this year were Rajean Anderson and Tim Irion.

Friday afternoon the Frederick High School Marching Band participated in the parade and performed to "Bill Bailey." The floats were judged by local people, and the junior float won first place. The sophomores and freshmen followed with second and third respectively.

The football game that night brought cheers as Langford was beaten with a score of 52-0. Afterwards the students gathered at a pizza party for the final activity of the week.

Annual staff preserves memories

The junior and senior annual staff members compiled many memories in the 1981-82 yearbook. Throughout the year, hours of dedication were given to the scheduled completion of deadlines.

The editor-Stacey Mikkonen led the staff responsibly with Stacey Wilson backing her as asst. editor and Mrs. Susan Maunu as yearbook advisor. Together, the group learned, practiced, and gained experience.

Stacey Mikkonen attended the 1981 Summer Publications Workshop in Brookings from June 1-5. During her stay, Stacey became familiar with layouts, body copy, headlines and captions, and theme. Also, she was briefed on how to organize the staff.

Some of the members went to the 1981 Press Convention in Brookings. At the convention, in addition to yearbook and newspaper ratings, the staff split-up and went to various sessions; including "Making the Most of Imagination," "Small Can Be Beautiful," "Design Layout that Makes Judges Happy," and "What's New in Yearbooks." Meanwhile, the photographer went to photography sessions to learn how to handle the camera and how to plan ahead.

Students execute speaking skills

Oral interpretation is offered to students in order to develop better speaking qualities and the ability to perform comfortably in front of groups of people. Students are basically judged on the clarification of their words, the tone in which they base their character on, the clamness and enthusiasm of their presentation, and the balance of speed in which they present their selection.

Hard work was displayed by 11 oral interpretation students competing in the local contest held in Frederick on Oct. 16, the district contest held in Groton, So. Dak. on Oct. 29, and the regional contest held in Aberdeen, So. Dak. on Nov. 4. Participants included poetry - Lyn Selzle, Dana Cutler, and Sonia Maunu, serious prose - Rajean Anderson and Anita Livermont, duet- memorized - Tina McCulloch and Wade VanDover, serious drama - Lona Geranen, and humorous prose - Jerry Forsting. Mrs. Bernice Rollo, the oral interpretation instructor, met with the students whenever time permitted to help them prepare for the upcoming contests. Several students performed their selections at various meetings such as Senior Citizens, PTO, and Lions Club.

Sugar-n-Spice adds support

The Sugar-n-Spice Drill Team, with the combined efforts of five new members, seven returning members, and one new alternate, performed challenging as well as exciting routines for the watching audiences.

In order for the members to letter they were required to choreograph and teach a routine either by themselves or with a partner. Along with the routine they could have no unexcused absences from practice or performances.

The first performance was given at the football playoff game with Eureka. It was the only performance held outside of a basketball court.

Boys' basketball brought many hours of practice and preparation for the performances given during half time of home games and one district game held in Aberdeen. The highlight of the season was the trip to Souix Falls where the team performed a final time during the State 'B' Tournaments.

Mrs. Marla Walz, the team advisor, held the annual supper on the night of December 18. In addition to advising the team, Mrs. Walz sewed together a maroon pom pon bag for each individual member.

Lona reigns as "Miss Frederick"

The Frederick Area Jaycettes sponsored the Snow Queen Contest on November 20. The master of ceremonies at the event was Mrs. Sally Larson, a local Jaycette.

Nine contestants competed for the title of "Miss Frederick." The requirements of the contest were as follows: filling out an application, foregoing an interview with the judges, singing a related song together, and being introduced to the former royalty: Tami Voeller, 1981 "Miss Frederick," and Jeanie Ronning, 1981 Junior Snow Queen.

A new addition to the contest, given by the Jaycettes and voted on by the contestants, was the "Miss Congeniality" title, presented to Miss Maria Forsting.

The festive event was highlighted by the crowning of Lona Geranen as the 1982 "Miss Frederick." Lona will also reign as the Frederick Centennial Queen for the celebration to be held July 3, 1982.

Miss Sonya Mikkonen was crowned the 1982 Junior Snow Queen. She was chosen by a vote of her freshmen class.

An annual event at the contest is to have Frosty appear and help the M.C., if possible; and mingle with the contestants and audience. Frosty for 1982 was Clayton Fisher.

Seven first grade girls entertained the audience with the song "Suzy Snowflake" and visited briefly with the M.C.

Play is chosen to honor Frederick's centennial

"Cowhands and Weddingbells" was the play that was presented by the junior and senior classes of 1982. The stage crew helped to make the play a success by setting up props and doing lighting and other special effects. The Elm Valley Ridge Riders performed between acts and dedicated "Okie from Muskogee" to Mrs. Lashly after the play cast presented her with a gift of appreciation.

Josh (Kevin Q.), Barney (Troy V.), and Luke (Joey L.) are waiting for the arrival of several young ladies who are coming from Boston. Their waiting is interrupted by Pie Annie (Donna S.) who admires how the boys have fixed up the Palace Hotel. Just then Abraham (Kraig S.) enters carrying a saddle for the new brides. They are so happy about the brides, that they begin to sing. Their singing stops when Jennie (Jenny V.) and Nellie (Rhonda G.) enter screaming that Asa (Wade V.) is here. Asa comes in followed by the brides; Charity (Lona G.), Faith (Rajean A.), Mae B. (Denise E.), Arabella (Tina Mik.), and Hope (Stacey W.). The introductions are disrupted by Ma Scrubbs (Leslie P.) and her two wild daughters, Venus (Stacey M.) and Aphrodite (Tina Mc.). They enjoy themselves by bothering the brides and their beaus.

Mayor Crook (Kurt S.) is not having a good day. He has just learned from the townswoman (Becky C.) that Asa is running against him for a seat in the Territorial Legislature. He then convinces Ma Scrubbs to help get rid of Asa. The Scrubbs family plan to rob Mr. Pendleton (Jerry F.) and frame Asa and the brides. Asa and the girls are arrested by the deputy (Scott M.) and placed in jail to wait the arrival of the Judge (Tim I.).

Lum (Randy B.) finds out, however, that the Hermit (Shannon) saw the robbery. Thus Ma Scrubbs eliminates him. At the trial it is found out that Ma Scrubbs had missed when she shot the Hermit and also the truth is found out about Mayor Crook and the Scrubbs family. The marriage of Charity Jones to Asa Mercer is only the beginning of civilization in Frederick.

Valentine royalty crowns go to two different classes

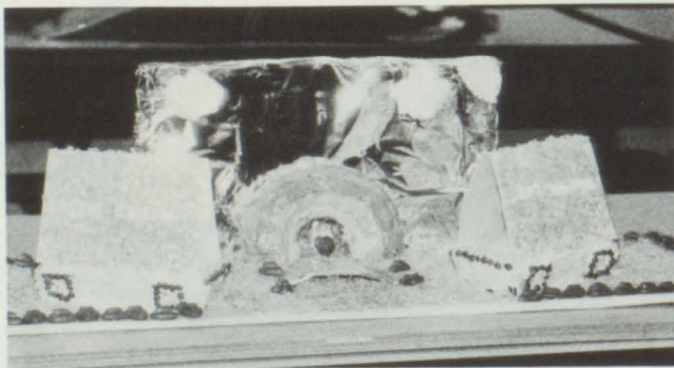

On February 14, 1982, the crowns for the Sweetheart King and Queen went to different classes. Eugene Emery, a senior, and Barb Geranen, a junior, were crowned by Jim Ronning, standing in for Joel Durheim, and Lana Bain. Other royalty candidates included: Senior - Debbie Plummer, Junior Scott Huettl, Sophomores - Kevin Richter and Rolinda Ham, Freshmen - Heath Martin and Roxanne Curtis. The voting was done before the dance by all class members.

The dance started at 8 p.m. and lasted until 10 p.m. with music brought in by members of the student body. It was halted momentarily for the crowning of the King and Queen, the choosing of psyche - Jenny Voeller and cupid - Jerry Forsting, and the judging of the cakes.

The cakes, which were baked and decorated by the classes, were judged by King Eugene and Queen Barb. The classes that competed against each other were the juniors, the sophomores and the freshmen. The four categories by which the cakes were judged were - beauty, originality, flavor, and theme. The sophomores, who received first for their entry, had entered two white cakes decorated as houses with a bridge joining them and a rainbow in the background. The freshmen received second for their entry which was two heart-shaped, white cakes, frosted, with the word 'King' on one and 'Queen' spelled out in heart-shaped candies. These cakes then provided the refreshments for the evening.

Council changes fund-raising policy

The 1981-82 school year opened with Stacey Wilson as president of the student council and Dan Cantwell and Kurt Selzle backing her as vice-president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

This year the members worked to change the longstanding policy concerning student council funds. In the past, tradition had it that only enough money to arrange the annual student council events, such as, the Valentine's Dance and the Christmas movie, was to be raised. But the 1981-82 members agreed that some new and more exciting activities should be planned. Therefore, a picnic basket social and a lolli-pop day entered the list of various student council activities, while also being fund-raising events.

Some of the members attended a one-day workshop in Clark. The instructor at the workshop based his lesson on keeping the student body content and involved.

Students excel by using their special talents

This year students in Frederick High School represented their school well by receiving honors both in academic and extra-curricular areas.

Students who participated in the LRC Math Contest represented areas in Algebra I, geometry, Algebra II, and senior math. The areas represented in the LRC Business Contest were general business, typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping.

This year the number of Boy's State alternates was increased by one. Those selected for Boy's State are: Pat Ellwein and Randy Bretsch-delegates; and Joel Bender and Joey Livermont-alternates. The girls selected for Girl's State are: Tina Mikkonen-delegate; and Rajean Anderson-alternate. The boys were sponsored by the Frederick Legion while the Frederick Legion Auxiliary sponsored the girls.

The eight senior students who attended Government Day in Aberdeen toured many of the offices in the Brown County courthouse and jail to learn of the machinery of local government. The field trip was sponsored by the Frederick Legion.

Music enchanced many high school activities

In 1981-1982, under the direction of Mr. Roger Kendall, the Frederick Band participated in numerous school and social activities.

The pep band enjoyed playing new songs for pep rallies, football games, girls' and boys' basketball games, and other various events. The pep band performed at the 1981 football playoff game against Eureka, which was played on our home field.

Marching to the jazzy tune of "Bill Bailey," the band led the Frederick Homecoming Parade, held on October 2. On October 3, they participated in the Gypsy Day parade in Aberdeen along with several other bands.

The crowd was entertained at the Christmas and spring concerts held on December 22 and April 22 respectively. Many of the traditional songs along with the contemporary music of today was played and sung by the students.

On April 2 and 3, in Aberdeen, the Region IV Band Contest was held. Solos, small groups, and ensembles competed on the 2nd and the band competed on the 3rd against other Class C Bands.

Vikings compete in playoffs

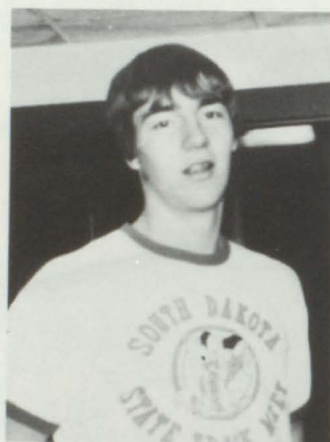

Excitement was the key word during the 1981 football season. The Vikings entertained more fans than in recent seasons. During their 10-1 season the Vikings beat Conde to win the Lake Region Conference Championship and the right to compete in the first South Dakota High School Football Playoffs.

For the first round of the playoffs, people of the school district brought in bleachers and built an announcer's box for KSDN-FM to broadcast the game. A digital scoreboard was also brought in from Brookings to prepare for the game against Eureka.

After beating Eureka the Vikings traveled to Freeman in a chartered bus. The fans showed their support by chartering a JackRabbit bus for the adults and a school bus for the students. Despite all the support of the fans, the Vikings lost to Freeman.

Wade VanDover, starting quarterback for his fourth year, passed for 621 yards to help the Vikings have a winning season. Kevin Quimby led the Vikings in rushing by gaining 913 yards. Kevin Quimby and Eugene Emery led the pass receiving department by catching 11 for 181 yards and 10 for 293 yards, respectively. The defensive team was led by Eugene Emery who made 109 tackles and assisted in 61 tackles. The defense team was also helped by Kevin Quimby and Randy Metzinger who had six interceptions each.

KSDN Player of the Week was awarded to Kevin Quimby and Eugene Emery for their performances in the Leola and Eureka games, respectively.

Performers exercise extra talents

Students who plan to participate in high school basketball have the chance to gain added knowledge and ability through junior high basketball. The seventh and eighth grade girls experienced an unsuccessful season, but showed up-n-coming potential with spirited teamwork and drive.

This year, at the hands of Coach Kelly Hinds, the talents of the Barnard Tumbling Team members expanded with their enthusiastic efforts. The team performed at a high school basketball game and a PTO meeting. The older girls' performances were gymnastic floor routines to musical selections.

Cheerleaders show great enthusiasm

School spirit and support was shown by the 'A' and 'B' cheerleading squads. They displayed encouragement and enthusiasm with their cheers and chants throughout the year. Mascot-Janna Selchert assisted the 'A' cheering squad

The 'A' squad started the year by receiving a superior rating at NSC's Cheerleading Clinic. Their high spirited cheers helped the Vikings to a victorious football season with a 10-1 record.

The 'B' squad enjoyed an active year of cheerleading in their new uniforms. They also participated in pep fest skits.

Junior high cheerleaders added their support by cheering for the high school home girls basketball games as well as their own junior high games.

The Vikings were led in scoring with Wade VanDover and Shannon Ylitalo having 266 and 263 points, respectively. The leaders for rebounding were Shannon Ylitalo and Eugene Emery with 256 and 170 rebounds, respectively. Shannon Ylitalo was named to the LRC All-Conference team while Wade VanDover was also named KSDN Player of the Week for his performances in the Warner, Eureka, and Bristol games.

Junior High has winning season

The 12 members of the Junior High boys basketball team not only had a winning season, but also gained valuable experience for their future years of playing basketball for Frederick High School. The members of the team were offered the skills of working with others and self-discipline. The team ended their season with a record of 7-4. The coach for the team was Mr. Tim Beck who replaced Mr. Steve Rabine last spring.

Thinclads enjoy successful season

The 1982 running teams of FHS were capable of winning and dedicated to the sport. The most valuable runner in girls cross country and track was Denise Ellwein, while Scott McCullough and Shannon Ylitalo were named most valuable runners in cross country and track, respectively.

This year fifteen students participated in cross country, which lasted from September to the end of October. The girls cross country team took the first place trophy at the conference meet, 2nd in the region, and 5th at the state meet. Since the boys didn't have enough members to make a team, Scott McCullough competed individually in state competition.

The junior high girls won the conference meet and the Rosholt Inv., while the boys junior high team placed 2nd at the conference and 1st at Rosholt. The two teams also competed at the Roncalli Inv. and Britton Inv., but no team totals were tallied.

Both varsity squads had winning seasons. The boys and girls teams won six out of nine meets; thus becoming conference and regional champs.

Eight girls and seven boys qualified for the state track meet, held in Brandon Valley the first day and Sioux Falls the second day. The events and runners who qualified for state competition are: 100m dash-Ann M. and Kevin Q.; 200m dash-Ann M. and Shannon Y.; 400m relay-Jodi L., Lynn S., Karen M., and Ann M.; 800m relay-Jodi L., Denise E., Karen M., and Ann M., and Kevin Q., Tony K., Pat E., and Shannon Y.; shot put and discus-Kraig S.; long and triple jump-Kevin Q.; 3200m relay-Stacey W., Jennifer W., Sonya M., and Denise E. and Wade V., Scott M., Troy V., and Pat E.; 1600m relay-Stacey W., Denise E., Lynn S., and Karen M. and Wade V., Pat E., Troy V., and Shannon Y.; 100 and 300m hurdles-Lynn S.

Rain and cold weather hampered the participants, although four FHS members did place at the state meet. Kraig Smith took second in the shot put, Kevin Quimby captured fifth in the long jump, Lynn Selzle placed fourth in the 100m hurdles, and Ann Marske took second in the 100m dash.

BARNARD

Special programs and activities stimulate learning

The Title I program in Barnard, under the direction of Mrs. Linda Waldstein, provides supplementary reading services to the students in grades one through seven. In the special education classes, taught by Mrs. Portia Johnson, the students receive individual and small group instruction.

Meeting new friends, riding the bright yellow school bus, and learning the routine for school were all new and exciting experiences for the beginning kindergartners. The children took part in the school Christmas program and entertained their parents again in the spring with a special program. Special activities for the year included making Christmas cookies, bread, butter, and ice cream.

In addition to these activities, the students spent many hours practicing the alphabet, numbers, and also completing exercises to help them develop the left-to-right method of reading and writing. A great accomplishment for many was the result of learning how to print their own name.

Students explore new horizons

Exploring the fundamentals of reading, math, and writing was the basis for the first grade itinerary. Social adjustment through group participation was a large part of their education.

The second grade had a very busy year. Along with their regular studies in math, reading, and spelling, they had special fun with spelling bees, math relays, timed math tests, and making their own dictionaries. In social studies new units were added about the calendar and heroes and heroines. The year brought a new language book with added challenge and fun.

Multiplication expands memories

The third grade class learned many new things throughout the year. They switched from manuscript to cursive writing, mastered their multiplication tables, the use of resource material, and how to locate it was studied thoroughly by the students. Included in their goals for the school year was the study of the solar system, animals, and health in science class.

Highlights for the fourth grade class were finger math, art projects, and their participation in the annual school Christmas program. Many math periods were spent reviewing multiplication tables already learned and mastering new ones. New social studies books proved to be very motivating and helped the students to discover new areas of the world.

Various studies advance students

Besides enjoying the basic academic subjects, the fifth grade participated in several mini courses on listening, following directions, reading comprehension, and context skills. Various learning centers were also completed by class members on puzzles, holidays, research, and thinking skills.

This year sixth graders were involved in a wide variety of activities and studies. A thorough study of careers was especially interesting and gave students a look into the various career opportunities. Students made booklets describing various careers, and several guest speakers came and explained their occupations.

Students study old and new

Social studies, taught by Mr. Tim Beck, offered the seventh grade class an opportunity to learn more about the different states and varying countries. The students were required to prepare booklets on a chosen state or country and give an oral report to the class.

Decimals and fractions were the subject of many math periods taught by Mrs. Kelly Hinds. Square roots and angles presented additional mathematic problems for intense study.

English, also taught by Mrs. Kelly Hinds, introduced new grammar skills as well as study of various types of literature.

Science, with Mr. Leighton Getty as instructor, introduced the students to life science. Cells, bones, muscles, plus other dimensions of life science were studied and discussed in class.

Physical education class, under the direction of Mr. Tim Beck, gave the students an opportunity to learn the rules and skills necessary to play such games as volleyball and hockey.

With the regular classes offered, the students were given the opportunity to participate in active sports and high school band.

Students prepare for future high school

With the help of new history books, Mr. Tim Beck taught the eighth grade students detailed information about the growth of our country as well as our national government.

Mrs. Kelly Hinds, the English teacher, taught the students the principles of correct English along with sentence punctuation.

Math, also taught by Mrs. Kelly Hinds, instructed the students on how to work with fractions and percents. The formula for figuring interest rates was also a subject for classroom study.

How to watch the weather and how to find the relative humidity were taught in science class by Mr. Leighton Getty. Minerals and rock formations were also studied during several earth science periods.

New techniques and skills were learned and developed by the students during many hours of physical education class taught by Mr. Tim Beck.

In addition to the regular classes the eighth grade students enjoyed participating in the extra-curricular activities of band and chorus as well as various sports.

Music and dance are added to student's lives

The sixth grade band members are: Tammie Mullner and Sheila Olson.

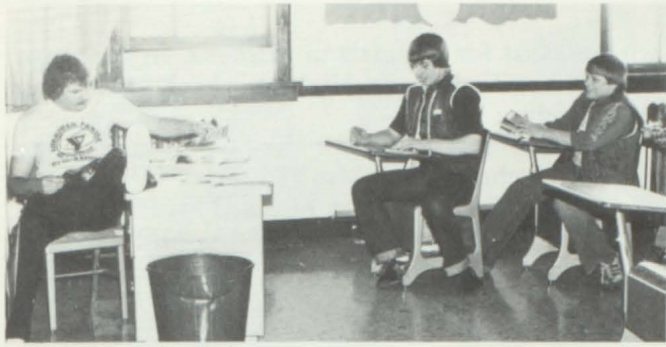

The seventh and eighth grades practiced long, hard hours in Barnard and with the Frederick High School Band. Upon reaching the eighth grade, they participated in pep band for athletic events and other activities, concerts, and contests. The students learned much from participation in contests.

The 1981-1982 sweetheart royalty was King Clayton Larson and Queen Shelly Gage. The kids were chosen by their eighth grade classmates. Both the seventh and eighth grade students chose Rheiff Mikkonen and Pam Ellwein as psyche and cupid.

A dance for them was held on February 12 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. It was chaperoned by teachers and students' mothers. A variety of snacks was served during the dance also.

Students enjoy experimenting on computers during leisure time

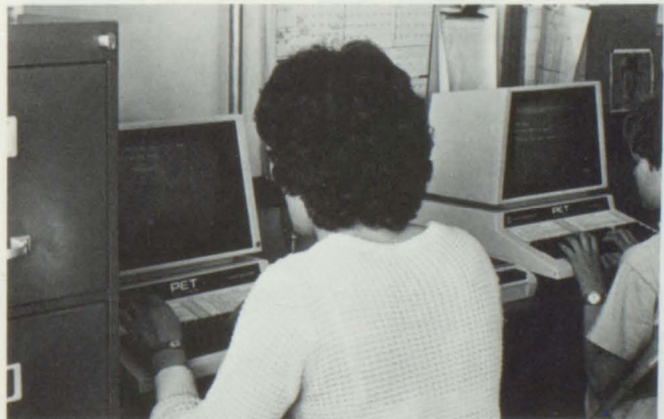

The Barnard students had many new opportunities to experiment with during their time off from studies in school. The new Pet Computers were fun to play with and also a good way of getting their math assignments done. Everyone enjoyed using the computers in their free time.

New Speak and Spell, Speak and Math, and Speak and Read Computers were purchased by the school to help improve their skills. These were all located in the Barnard Resource Center.

Students listened to records and tapes while waiting for their turn on the computers. Magazines were read for better understanding of world problems and simply for enjoyment.

The twirling of batons was a common sight to see from grades first through eighth in the school, while the younger kids were learning how to twirl a baton and the older kids were developing their skills in twirling under the direction of Mrs. Kelly Hinds.

Students were kept busy and active during their recess on the playground. A wide variety of playground equipment was available for all ages of students.

Barnard staff keeps busy

Mr. Leighton Getty headed the faculty at the Barnard Elementary School for his seventh year. He took time out from his busy schedule of running the school to teach science to the Jr. High students at Barnard. He spent his spare time coaching the Frederick High School girls basketball team.

Mrs. Sharon Bain served as secretary for the Barnard school. Along with her many important duties as secretary, she ran the resource center at Barnard. While running the center, she helped the students find information for reports and books for their own reading enjoyment.

A new addition to the Barnard Elementary School staff was Kelly Hinds. She took over the role of teaching English and math to the seventh and eighth grade students. Mrs. Hinds received a B.S. degree in education from NSC where she majored in elementary education and recreation and minored in physical education. She also started a baton twirling class for the girls in Barnard. In her extra time she coached the Jr. High girls basketball team and tumbling team.

After joining the staff for the last quarter of the 1980-1981 school year, Mr. Tim Beck returned to teach at Barnard. Mr. Beck received his B.S. degree from NSC. He taught social studies and physical education to the Jr. High at Barnard. He also taught the Jr. High boys basketball team and the Jr. High track team.

Workers do their jobs well

The job of keeping the high school and gymnasium clean was carried out by Everett and Crystal Surmeyer. Everett also had the responsibility of doing miscellaneous repair jobs. Ed Fiekens, with the help of his wife Maxine, kept the elementary school and lunchroom clean and made sure the buildings were in good working condition.

The meals at the high school were prepared and served by Marv Luoma and Ruth Fischer. Marlyne Metzinger and Loraine Krogman were in charge of lunches at Barnard.

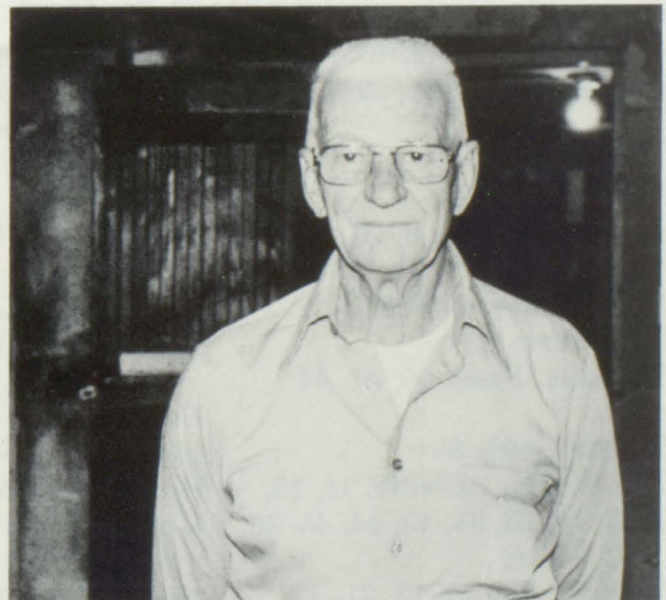

The role of the bus drivers was an important one. They were required to get the students to school throughout the year regardless of the weather. They were also responsible for the safety of the students.

The final page of our memory book has now been completed; the final events celebrated. Each page holds the key to the many group and individual celebrations of the year. As time goes by, may the events and celebrations captured within these pages bring back memories of each and every one of our high school days spent together.
