VIKING

1983 VIKING

My spirit takes flight —
    how it soars!
    how it sings!
as it rides on a dream,
as it opens its wings . . .
How it searches each cloud
    for a soft silver lining,
    And follows horizons
where new hopes are shining . . .
My spirit flies high —
I am fearless and free —
    to express, to explore,
    to begin . . . to be me.

Frederick High School

Frederick, South Dakota 57441

Eventful happenings lead to an exciting year for students.

The students at Frederick High School had many opportunities to create and develop their own attitudes and interests. Although they had different ideas, styles, and habits, they all shared a common friendship. The 1982-83 school year soared by quickly as there were many activities to take part in.

The year rose with the best season ever for the girls' basketball and boys' football teams. Many students participated in and supported the athletic activities. A fan bus was taken to Vermillion for the 9AA championship football game between Frederick and Gettysburg. Also, many students attended the girls' home basketball games, as well as the away games.

The homecoming events proved to be a memorable time for everyone involved. Working on the floats was one of the biggest projects for the students. They were allowed one day to build them.

Oral interpretation students did well in their divisions, but found it hard to fit their practices in with their instructor, Mrs. Rollo. There were so many activities going on at the same time, along with their own studies, it was difficult for the students to get all of their practices in with everyone. A lot of sacrificing was done by the faculty for the students and each of their instructors.

Many hours of practicing were spent by members of the boys' basketball team, and other students, to develop their own physical skills. The auditorium was opened on week nights and weekends for this purpose. Many students and adults fans drove to Aberdeen to attend the boys' district basketball tournament.

The boys' State B basketball tournament was held March 10, 11, and 12, and many students also traveled to Sioux Falls to attend.

Several hours were spent by the juniors and other students putting up the prom decorations. Students often worked in the gym over their noon break.

Graduation came up quickly for everyone. It wasn't uncommon for the teachers to hear all of the stories that the kids would tell in studyhall about what they used to do. A lot of reminiscing was done towards the end of the school year, rather than studying.

In the students' spare time, working on the computers was another common scene. Much experience was gained by the students who were able to use the computers not only during the school hours, but also after school.

If ever a teacher had a missing student in his last hour studyhall, he would have most likely found him in Mrs. Lashly's home ec room. Many students spent several hours in her room doing their own projects, someone else's, odd jobs for Mrs. Lashly, or just plain visiting with her. If a studyhall ever looked fairly empty, the home ec room was usually over populated.

After the students were through eating, they had their chance to do their visiting with other classmates, usually in the government room. The heat register was the main attraction during the cold months. When the weather finally warmed up, the students spent most of their free time relaxing out in the sun in front of the school building.

Many students ran down to the Frederick Area Teen Center to grab a quick bite to eat, relax, and listen to tunes on the juke box.

Their weekends were occupied with their own work at home, little get togethers, going to movies and dances, and attending awesome parties.

This was our memorable year, which added many new and unforgettable experiences to our lives and past memories. We've shared the good and bad times throughout the years together.

We dedicate with respect, our 1983 Viking

We the Frederick High Senior class of nineteen hundred and eighty-three, dedicate our Viking to you, Mrs. Maunu. With deep appreciation for all the attempts and achievements through which you have been our source of direction, we wish to thank you.

We share the memories of your helping us bear the trials that went along with our first year of typing. We can't imagine how you ever accepted our excuses for not hearing that there was an assignment in bookkeeping, but we hope you realize how much we appreciate all those times you let us get by. We'll never forget the times we said we forgot to proofread our papers in office practice. Through almost every situation you have been able to understand us, especially Senior Night Out at the Elks.

So with much respect, we dedicate our 1983 Viking to you-Mrs. Maunu.

Freshmen experiment with new techniques

Only a few days were taken up out of the school year to get adjusted to the high school routine for the 1982-83 freshmen class. The students signed up for English, where they learned the skills of grammar and reading techniques; in general math and algebra, equations of numbers were comprehended; in general business, they learned to figure income tax, balance a budget, and balance a checkbook; in science, experiments and theories helped get the point across; in physical education, games and exercises helped the students have fun and keep in shape while learning correct procedures. To keep the students busy after classes were finished, extra curricular activities were provided.

Freshmen took first place in the homecoming festivities with their float titled "Shredded Wheelers." Their saying: Smash 'em up bash 'em up put 'em in a bowl, was printed on the side. At the slave day auction each one took their turn at being auctioned off by Mr. Richard Gage. The highest bidders enjoyed putting his or her slave through one day of hard labor. The money collected went into the student council treasury.

A new student, Chris Cygan, joined the class for a portion of the year. He adjusted easily and found the students to be friendly and helpful.

Three students were selected by the class to try for the title of Frederick Junior Snow Queen. Chosen were: Kim Smith, Shelly Gage, and JoAnn Hoerner. They appeared in Frederick's 1983 Snow Queen Contest when Sonya Mikkonen, last years Junior Snow Queen, crowned Shelly Gage. Shelly represented Frederick in the 1983 South Dakota Snow Queen Festival held in Aberdeen. Shelly appreciated the experience gained. She said it was fun after she got over being nervous.

Sophomores get into the swing

The sophomores started the year out quite successfully. By following the homecoming theme, they captured second place on their float and skit.

Sophomores had a whole new curriculum which included these classes: typing, biology, English, physical education. In typing the students worked on speed and accuracy. In biology knowledge was gained concerning the plant and animal life. English class kept the sophomores studying literature and grammar. And in physical education, the class was kept in shape by playing basketball, hockey, flag football, soccer and many other sports. The students had some optional choices. Such as home economics, geometry, and world history. Home economics consisted of activities such as sewing, cooking and many other crafts. In geometry students found many different angles. And in world history much awareness of the world's past was accumulated.

Mrs. Rollo and Mr. Walz were the sophomore class advisors.

Activities enliven junior year

The 1982-83 junior year was filled with making and spending money. It was the first year the new football concession stand, donated by GNP Lumber Co., was used. Money-making was centered around the successful football season. The large fan turn-out increased concession profit which went towards the junior-senior prom.

First and third place was captured by the juniors in the homecoming skit and float building respectively. Much running around, talking and listening to "tunes" was done while building the float. Skits were based on the theme "Commercials."

A new "punk" trend of clothing was started this year. It was not unusual to see juniors with wild hairdos to match their "punk" clothes. Still much of the year was spent "grubbing down" with old jeans, t-shirts, and tennis shoes.

Many juniors went to the vocational school in Aberdeen while others took school courses offered to juniors and seniors. Computer I and II were new courses offered to juniors this year.

This was the first year the class of "84" had een split. Vocational students were rarely seen but time was available to talk about things in the past and things to come. Quick hello's were exchanged while rushing to classes. Many afternoons were spent with college representatives or deciding on class rings and senior pictures. The year was busy but it assured better things were to come.

The junior class was advised by Mrs. Marla Walz and Miss Roberta Biel.

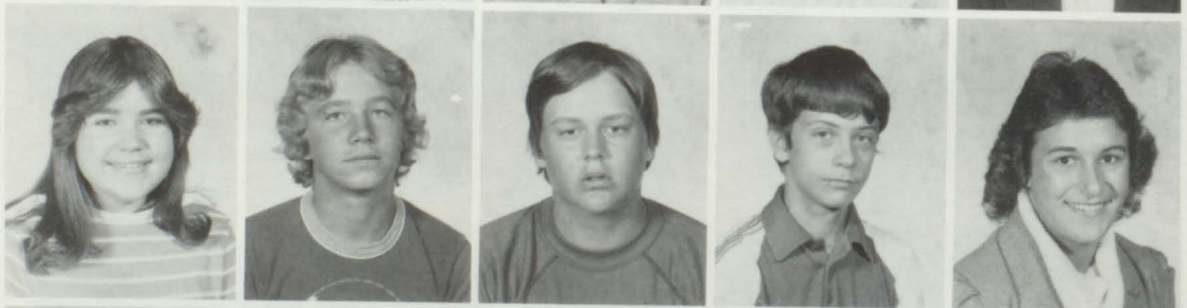

ABOVE: The junior class was lead by: Jeanie Ronning, Secretary-Treasurer, Anita Livemont, President and Jodi Lahr, Vice-President. Many duties were involved such as organizing and ordering for football and basketball concessions, planning and preparing for the junior-senior prom, plus other regular officer's duties.

Today we're just moving clouds . . .

The 1983 seniors walked into the Frederick High School to begin their final year on August 25, 1982. This day proved to be the beginning of a busy and active year for the '83' graduates.

Many of the class members participated in Career Day held at Aberdeen Central on October 4. During this time, these students were given the chance to talk with different representatives from various colleges and receive help in making their final college choice.

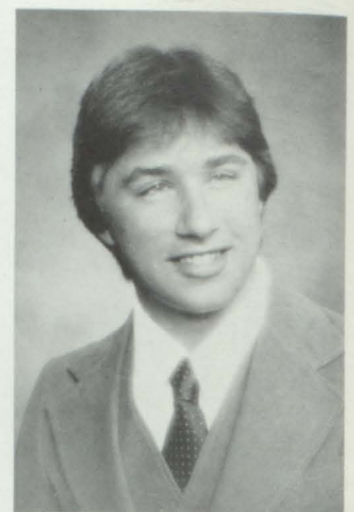

The American Legion's Government Day in Aberdeen was held on December 3. Eight senior class members participated in a tour of various government offices, the county jail, and the municipal court while it was in session.

... tomorrow we'll try mountains

The senior class trip to Pierre was taken on January 26. The trip provided the students a chance to tour the Capitol building and view the legislative branch of government in action. The students were also given time to tour the War Museum before returning home.

Eleven senior members participated in the State 'B' activities held in Sioux Falls on March 10-12.

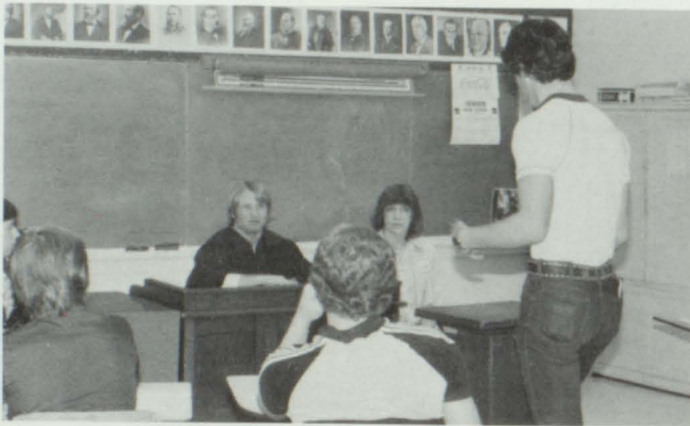

The busy year continued through May with final group and individual activities including the Junior-Senior Prom, awards night, senior night out at the Elks, senior tea, and graduation May 22nd.

Janklow urges seniors to succeed in life

The evening commencement exercises passed quickly for the graduating students at Frederick High School on Sunday, May 22, 1983. The invocation was given by Father Robert Krantz followed by a vocal selection entitled "Alleluiah" sung by the mixed vocal ensemble. Then, Superintendent Donald H. Quimby introduced the guest speaker, Mr. William Janklow, Governor of the State of South Dakota. His message to the graduates bordered on the theme that those who have graduated are examples of people successfully sticking with something and completing their education. The governor praised the graduating class for being the ones to bring about solutions to tomorrow's problems. Following the commencement address, the mixed vocal ensemble sang a selection entitled "Brighten My Soul."

Principal Steven G. Selchert presented the class of 1983 to the President of the school board, Mr. James Geranen, who handed out the diplomas. The graduates were led to the receiving line by Tracy Rohwedder and Richard Schlosser with Anita Livermont accompanying on the piano.

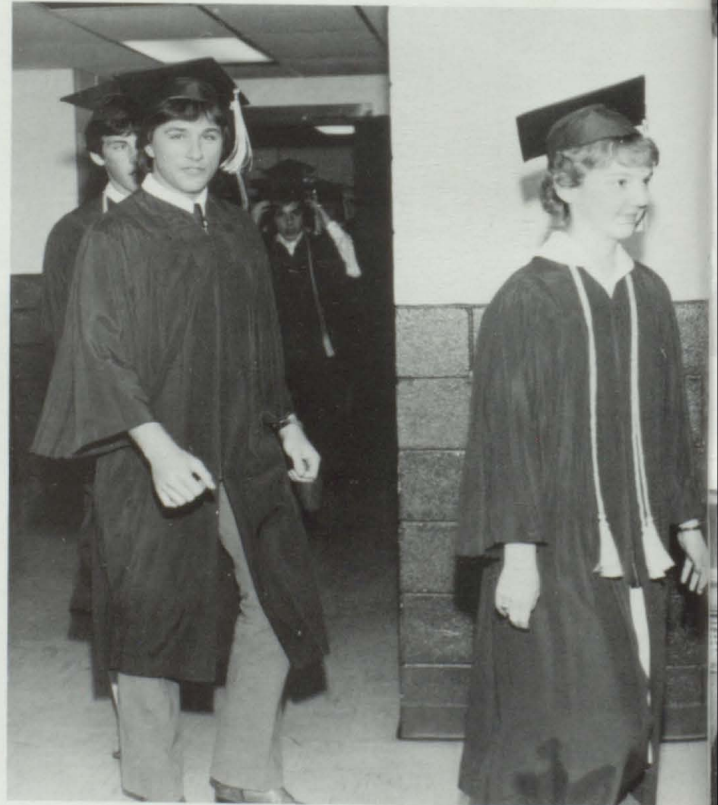

Graduates with honors were Rajean Anderson, Randy Bretsch, Pat Ellwein, Tim Irion, and Tina Mikkonen.

Seniors spend final class activities together

Mr. Selchert gave the seniors the choice of having a skip day on May 13 or getting out of school on May 18. The class decided on getting out of school earlier.

At 2 p.m. Wednesday, May 18, the senior girls along with female faculty members, wives of the school board members, and wives of the school administrators, gathered at the home of Mrs. Don Quimby for the annual senior tea. The hostesses of the tea were Mrs. Quimby and Mrs. Selchert. Jodi Lahr, Jeanie Ronning, Janeen VanDover, and Anita Livermont aided the hostesses by serving punch, coffee, and lunch to the guests.

Senior night out was held a week earlier than the tea on May 11. The class enjoyed an evening at the Elks where class funds were used to purchase the smorgasbord meal. Other guests for the evening were Superintendent Quimby, and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Selchert, and Mr. and Mrs. Maunu. Senior class advisors for the year were Mr. Selchert and Mrs. Maunu.

Vocational adds choices to schedule

Twenty-seven students attended the Hub Area Vocational school. They were involved in six of the courses offered.

Participants in Building Trades learned a variety of skills. The first year students built a house, and the second year students constructed a solar house. Carpentry, welding, and wiring were some of the skills developed.

The first year students in Building Trades were: Kevin Richter, Todd Larson, Mark Jung, Richard Schlosser, Steve Huettl, Steve Dinger, Dwight Johnson, Lance Podoll, and Joel Bender. The advanced students participating in Building Trades were: Donna Schlosser, Becky Chapin, Dennis Hinz, Troy VanDover, and Scott Huettl.

Several took part in the auto mechanics class. They learned the many steps of automotive operation. They studied all aspects of car repair from an easy tune-up, to the complete overhaul. The year's study also consisted of engine service, electrical systems, and chasis.

Those students enrolled in auto mechanics class were: Pat Ellwein, Welton Maunu, Lonny Mikkonen, Brent Durheim, Jeff Strand, Randy Bretsch, and Lance McDowell.

In addition to those activities, Brent Durheim, Pat Ellwein, Randy Bretsch, and Welton Maunu also participated in an area contest, where they took a skilled demonstration test in Aberdeen. Brent, Pat, Randy, and Welton placed first, second, third, and fourth, respectively. From there, they traveled to Springfield, South Dakota, for the Skill Olympics. Brent and Pat placed second and third, respectively. Brent was then eligible to go to Louisville, Kentucky, because the first place winner was unable to attend.

Medical Careers provided preparation for a job as a nurse's aide. They learned many techniques for working as an assistant in a hospital or a nursing home.

Each student worked for three weeks in the Aberdeen Nursing Center. A two-week course on CPR was also studied.

The class had guest speakers on related topics, and took various tours of the hospitals and funeral homes.

Students recorded in Medical Careers were: Rajean Anderson and Tina Mikkonen.

There were only two students in the agri-business class: Joey Livermont and Jeff Forsting. This course included training in agricultural production, business, and management. They tested crops and soil contents throughout the year, worked in their shop and learned welding techniques, how to repair farm equipment, and various other farm tasks, and took tours coinciding with their subject, also.

Tony Knox was the only participant from Frederick in Machine Shop. He worked with laythes, grinders, and various precision instruments. Many methods were learned on how to make several tools for numerous assigned jobs.

His class toured K.O. Lee, as well as other manufacturing companies.

The only student from Frederick involved in Radio and TV, was Joey Lahr. We learned the fundamentals of photography and development of his own pictures and slides. Also, video taping of the other vocational classes in session, was performed by the students with the learned proper use of lighting.

All of the students had the choice of whether, or not, to belong to VICA, FFA, or DECA.

Also, one student in each class was chosen as the student of the month. Rajean Anderson, Brent Durheim, Tony Knox, Joey Livermont, Welton Maunu, Tina Mikkonen, and Troy VanDover all held that honor in their class for one month.

Meet the faculty

Mrs. Carrie Lashly returned to teach four home economic classes. She also taught freshmen English, served as their advisor, and directed the junior-senior play.

Before coming to Frederick, she taught in Oklahoma, Rapid City, and Arizona. Mrs. Lashly is married, has two daughters and lives on a small farm in rural Aberdeen. Walking, sewing, and cooking are some of the things she enjoys in her spare time.

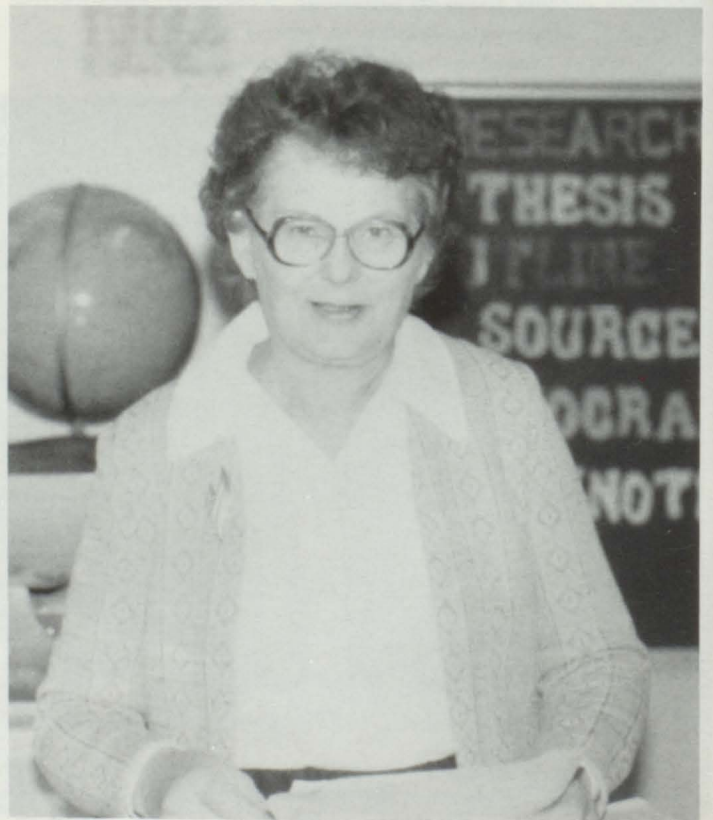

Miss Roberta Biel joined the teaching staff as the science teacher. Along with general science, biology and psychology were conducted by her. Miss Biel served as an advisor to the junior class, as well as being the cheerleading instructor.

Some of her spare moments are occupied by horseback riding, embroidering, reading, and cooking.

Miss Biel thought her first year of teaching at Frederick was enjoyable, and that the students were cooperative and helpful.

Mrs. Bernice Rollo had control of the English department. She taught three English classes, directed the oral interpretation and declam activities, and served as the sophomore class advisor. Mrs. Rollo taught a variety of subjects at Bristol and Ellendale before coming to Frederick.

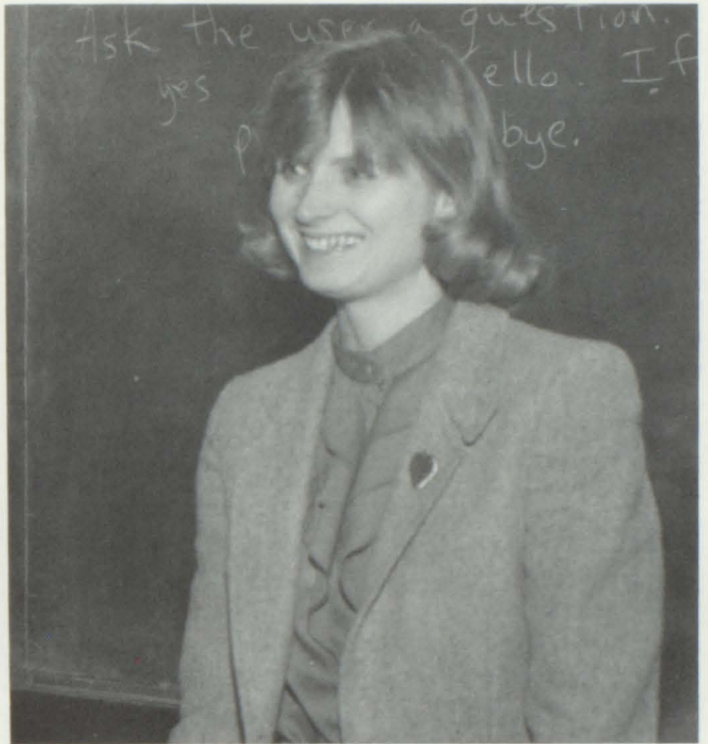

Mrs. Rollo brightened her room by constructing bulletin boards and putting up posters. In her limited spare time, she enjoys listening to music, reading, sewing, cooking, and having friends over. Mrs. Rollo lives in Frederick and enjoys the town's atmosphere.

Mrs. Judy Bretsch completed the year of instructing the special education program for the high school. She helped the students to better understand their problem subjects. Mrs. Bretsch used some computer programs to instruct in English and math, and books in the other subjects. She worked with the district psychologist to develop new techniques.

Some of the leisure activities include cleaning the house, jogging, and cooking. Mrs. Bretsch lives on a farm near Frederick with her husband and son.

The band and chorus extra-curricular programs were directed by Mr. Roger Kendall. Mr. Kendall spent a lot of time organizing the music concert and contest for the groups, as well as some individuals. Along with music, he teaches driver's education, and is a co-advisor to the freshmen class. Mr. Kendall also teaches a junior high band class at Barnard.

Mr. Kendall resides in Frederick with his wife and family. He enjoys golfing, writing music, and sitting down to a good book or movie in his spare time.

Mrs. Marla Walz returned to teach all of the math courses. These included: Algebra I, geometry, Algebra II, senior math, general math, and two computer classes, a beginning and an advanced. Mrs. Walz also taught two adult classes at night to teach them how to operate a computer. She was again the advisor to the drill team and the junior class. She helped organize the prom and sessions.

Needlework, watching sporting events, and reading are things that fill her spare time. Mrs. Walz, her husband, and sons live in Frederick.

. . . they instruct students daily

Mr. Darryl Walz again taught the social science classes. These consisted of: government, American history, and world history. He also instructed the freshmen and sophomore physical education classes. Along with these, Mr. Walz was the assistant boys basketball and football coach. He also advised the sophomore class on their float and other projects.

To teach his classes, Mr. Walz used textbooks, worksheets, films, and guest speakers. He also had his students make posters, graphs, write reports and do special projects.

During his spare time Mr. Walz enjoys various sports activities and he also umpires baseball and softball games. Mr. Walz and his family live in Frederick.

All of the business courses were under the direction of Mrs. Susan Maunu. She taught office practice, Bookkeeping I and II, general business, and typing. She also was an advisor to the senior class and helped with the supervising and editing of the yearbook.

For a better understanding of taxes, Mrs. Maunu had her bookkeeping and general business classes complete tax returns.

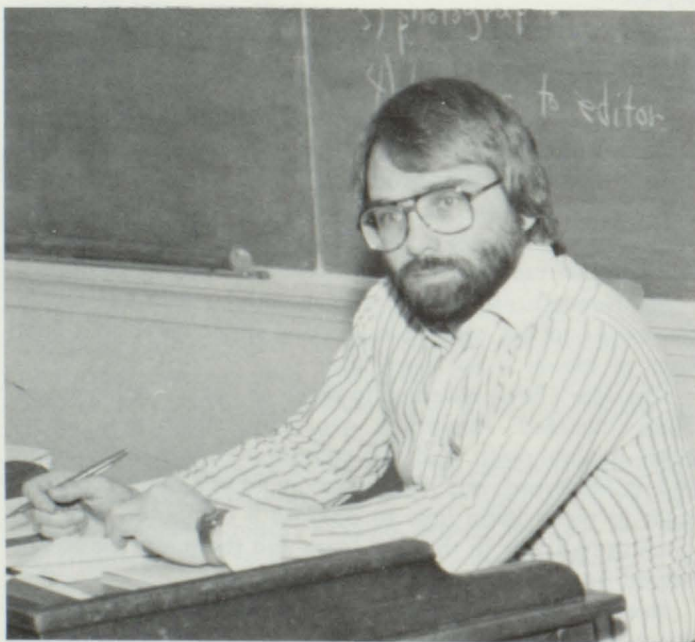

Mrs. Maunu lives on a farm outside of Frederick with her husband and son. To keep herself occupied, she likes to bake, crochet, and read.

The librarian, Mrs. Margaret Miller, helped to keep the high school library organized and furnished. She ordered new books of adventure, mystery, and romance for the students.

Mrs. Miller resides in Aberdeen with her husband and children.

ABOVE: Mrs. Peggy Niva was responsible for roll call and lunch count each day as secretary.

The district school psychologist, Mr. Terry Cormier, came to Frederick once a month to assist Mrs. Bretsch. Terry also gave Mrs. Bretsch advice that would help her in teaching her class. He also served the schools of Warner, Groton, Redfield, Northwestern, Conde, Doland, Bristol, and Hecla.

Mr. Cormier and his wife live in Aberdeen. Some of his pasttimes include jogging, tennis, golf, and cross country skiing.

Mrs. Peggy Niva became the new secretary for the year. She fit into the routine easily and the students enjoyed her personality. Mrs. Niva performed jobs such as keeping a record of each classes' assets, typing up various schedules, and doing many duties for Mr. Selchert.

Mrs. Niva made her home in Frederick with her husband and son. She enjoys crocheting, painting, cleaning the house, and gardening in her spare time.

Mr. Steven Selchert undertook the duties of the principal and guidance counselor. Along with these, he was also the head football and basketball coach, and assistant coach for both track programs. Mr. Selchert gave students information on their college choices and provided them with financial aid forms.

Mr. Selchert lives in Frederick with his wife and six children. Umpiring baseball and softball games, bowling, and attending sports events take up his spare time.

Administrators direct school policies

The superintendent of the district, Mr. Donald Quimby, had a variety of jobs to perform. One of the toughest was to set a budget with the school board. He also had to hire teachers for both Frederick and Barnard.

Mr. Quimby was chairman of the committee that helped organize the District V basketball tournament in Aberdeen for the second consecutive year.

Mr. Quimby was also on the planning committee for the inservice workshop held in Aberdeen March 25, 1983.

Mr. Quimby, his wife, and children live in Frederick and they are active in community functions.

Mrs. Sheryl Nixon was the business manager for the school. Her jobs covered paying the bills, typing letters, helping Mr. Quimby, typing up articles for the Brown County News and attending school board meetings.

Mrs. Nixon also learned more about the copy machine which was purchased last year for the district office and school.

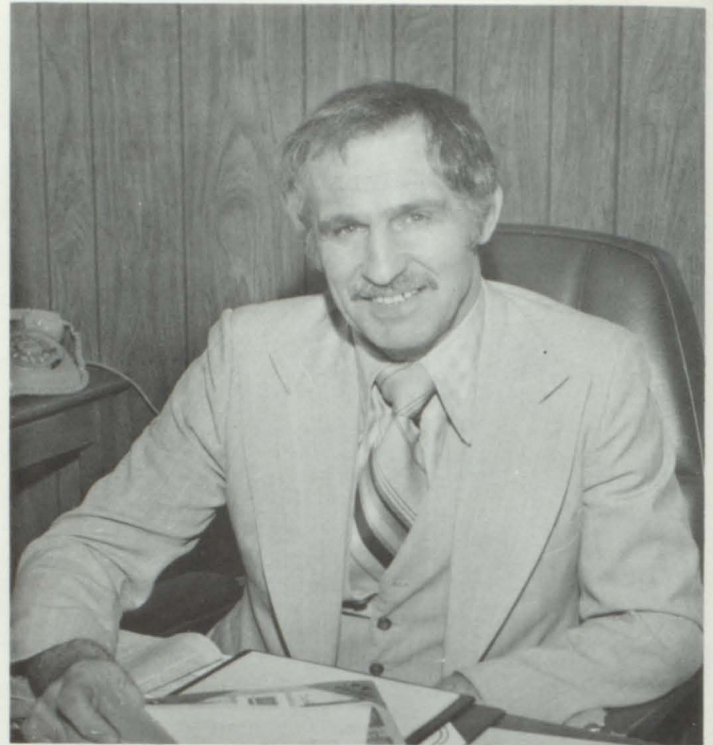

The Nixons, Sheryl, her husband, and their two daughters, live in Frederick.

On every second Monday of the month the school board met to discuss any problems that needed their attention. They also approved and paid any bills.

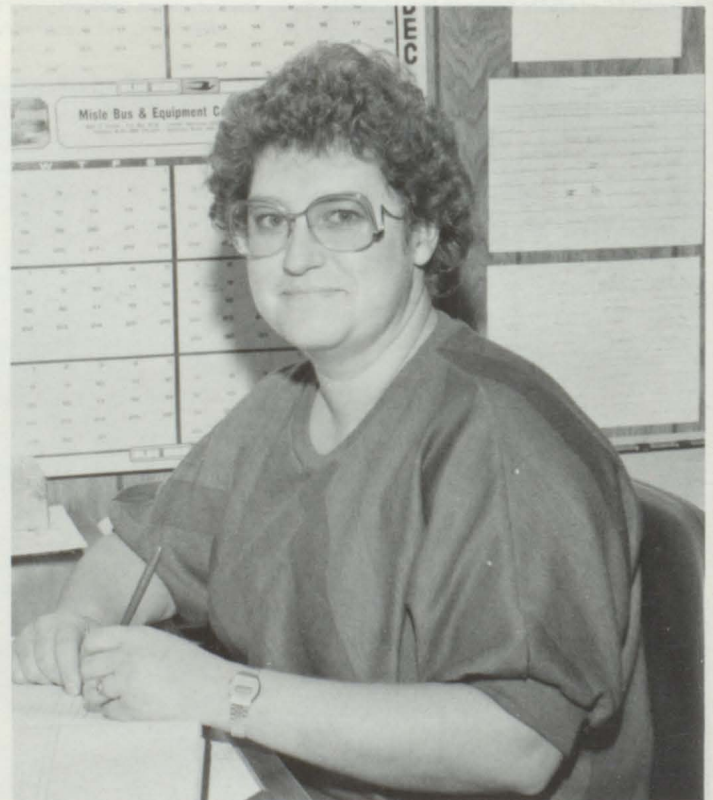

The members made such decisions as hiring of faculty and the administration personnel. They also approved the budget set up by Mr. Quimby for the school year. Many other tasks such as maintaining the buses, the many buildings, and the purchasing of school supplies were carried out by the board. A new format was also set up for stricter rules dealing with absentees. The board also addressed the problem of discipline in the classroom.

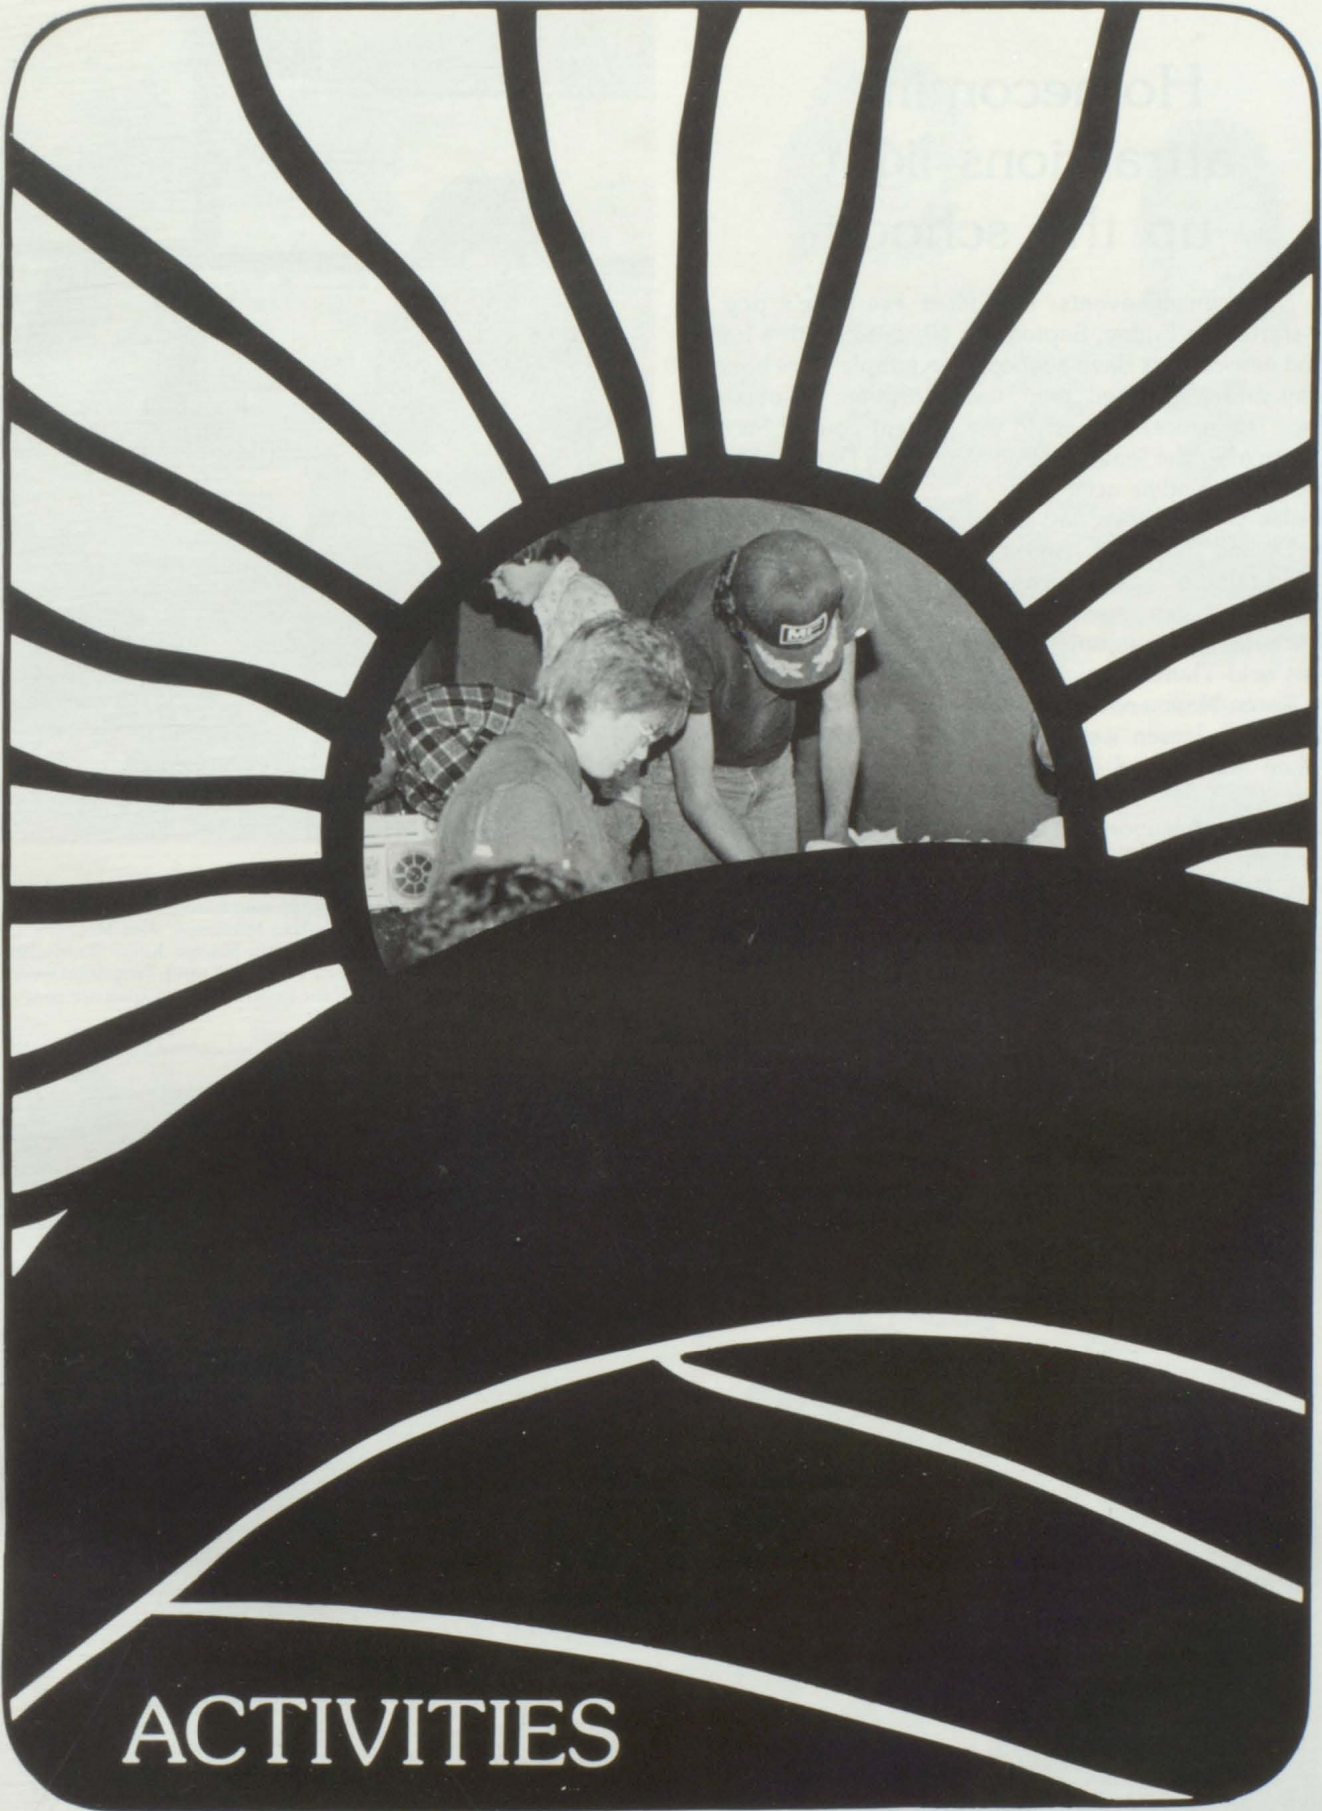

ABOVE: The 1982-83 Elm Valley School Board members are: LeRoy Podoll, Robert Hixon, Karen Gunther, James Geranen, and Martin Ronning. The board solved problems that dealt with the process of education and the people involved.

ACTIVITIES

Homecoming attractions light up the school

The homecoming events, that filled everyone's day in school started on Friday, September 10, 1982, with a freshman and new-comers slave auction. The people were bought that day and performed their tasks for their owners on Monday. The proceeds went to the student council for the pizza party after the football game against the Doland Wheelers and various other activities.

Tuesday was dress-up day and the girls' basketball team played Doland that night. Any kind of hat and glasses that you could think of was worn on Wednesday, and Thursday was dress-down day as everyone pitched in to work on the floats, which had the theme of, "commercials." The coronation was held Thursday night for the crowning of the 1982 Queen Karen Maunu and King Randy Bretsch. Dacey Cutler and Jeremiah Jensen were crown bearers for the evening while Ann Marske and Richard Schlosser served as honor guards.

On Friday afternoon the Frederick High School Band participated in the parade as they performed to "Battle Hymn of the Republic." Local people judged the floats, and the freshman received first place honors. The football game against Doland followed the parade that evening and they were beaten by a score of 62-0. The pizza party was the final activity of the week.

Staff learns to preserve the past

The 1982-83 annual staff learned that preserving the past involves more than taking pictures and putting them on a page. The first steps taken by the staff were to decide which pictures each person needed taken for their pages. When the pictures came back, each staff member decided how to position them on his or her page. Getting the right thoughts on paper was a little bit difficult for each staff member. The staff found out that without the help of last years staff members, getting the page to look right and everything on it took a lot longer. Each deadline was met as an opportunity for the staff to work together as a team and to help one another out. New things were learned throughout the year. The knowledge gained from knowing how to put a page together and having it look good was rewarding.

During the Press Convention in Brookings, Rajean Anderson received the 1982 All-State Yearbook Award for the previous year's staff. Frederick placed first with three other schools: Springfield, Colman, and Ethan.

Rajean Anderson, editor, went to the 1982 Summer Yearbook Camp in Wahpeton, North Dakota, from August 9-12 in preparation for the year. During her stay Rajean became familiar with the ladder diagram, basic page design, writing copy, creative page design, theme, headlines, and captions.

Rajean was assisted by Tina McCulloch, asst. editor, and Mrs. Susan Maunu, yearbook advisor. Twelve students worked on this years book and appreciated the help given by Rajean, Tina, and Mrs. Maunu. Other students on the staff are as follows: Scott Campbell, Kevin Quimby, Tina Mikkonen, Tim Irion, Jodi Lahr, Anita Livermont, Sonia Maunu, Ann Marske, and Jill Gunther. Tim Irion served as the head photographer with Jodi Lahr as his assistant.

Computers, ropes challenge all ages

Mrs. Marla Walz taught a two session class on operating a microcomputer in the winter and spring of 1983. Each class consisted of five-three hour sessions. The "hands-on" instructions given to the class helped them in using the three types of microcomputers. Loading and running programs, saving programs, copying tapes and disks, what a computer system is based on, and how it works were a few topics covered. Don Barbalance and Coleta Beringer, computer salesmen from DSC Computer Systems and Computer Specialists, gave a demonstration to each class.

Frederick and Barnard School raised $1315.57 for the Heart Association. The kids seemed to enjoy themselves and each was given a red jump rope to keep.

Athlete's Foot of Aberdeen, Harve Sporting Goods of Mitchell, Dakota Sports of Sioux Falls, All-Dakota Sports of Aberdeen, Pepsi and Coca-Cola, Mr. Selchert, and Mr. Walz donated the prizes given away at the door.

Fifty-six students participated with Jeff Selchert receiving the most pledges, $172.40. Ronda Ham, with her sponsors' names written on her T-shirt, and Janeen VanDover, wearing long underwear with red hearts on them, tied for the best costume. Mr. Walz and the students wish to thank those who pledged and hope for a better and bigger one next year.

Dance, drill routines provide entertainment

With the combined efforts of ten returning members, two new members, and one alternate, the Sugar 'n' Spice drill team performed many exciting routines during the half-time of the boys "A" home basketball games.

The ten returning members were seniors-Rajeane Anderson and Tina McCulloch; juniors-Rolinda Ham, Anita Livermont, Ann Marske, Tracy Rohwedder, and Lynn Selzle; sophomores-Jodi Walworth, Melissa Bain, and Dana Cutler. The two new members of the team were freshman-JoAnn Hoerner and Kimberly Smith, and sophomore-Carol Cantwell was chosen as the alternate.

The first performance, which was the only one performed outside of a basketball court, was given at a football game against Herreid at Frederick. That was the last game before the playoff games.

Many hours of hard practice and preparation was brought forth because of the boys home basketball games and one district game held in Aberdeen.

The drill team also entertained the fans at the Women's National Small College Basketball Association on March 11, 1983.

The team's advisor, Mrs. Marla Walz, choreographed the routine for the occasion, as she also devised other routines for the team. RIGHT: A few members of the drill team, Tracy Rohwedder, Lynn Selzle, and Kimberly Smith entertain the crowd by performing at half-time of a boys district basketball game to the song "You Should Hear How She Talks About You," choreographed by Rajeane Anderson. The drill team revised this routine for the competition held in Sioux Falls.

Their last routine was given at Sioux Falls where they competed in a contest. The routine was given comments and criticisms by a panel of three judges from that area. Overall, the team placed third among "B" and "A" school competition in the pom pom division.

Each member was required to choreograph and teach a routine, either by themselves or with a partner, in order to letter. There were no unexcused absences from practice or performances.

There was a variety of music used for their routines including: dance, rock, disco, punk, and country-western. The different styles of music and the costumes worn added to the performance and fun.

The regular drill team outfits were worn for the dance, rock, and disco routines, long sweatshirts and mini-skirts were worn for the punk routine, and a long prairie skirt, blouse, and bandanna were worn for the country-western routine.

The team's advisor, Mrs. Marla Walz, made up a few Christmas routines for some members of the drill team to entertain for various other activities outside of the school such as, the Frederick senior citizens, the Alpha Circle, and the PTO. Mrs. Walz also purchased new socks for the members at the beginning of the year.

Props set mood for "Young Dracula"

"Young Dracula" was the name of the play presented by the junior and senior classes of 1983. With the help of the stage crew, who set up props, made sound effects, and did the lighting, the play was a successful one. Between acts, the cast presented Mrs. Lashly with a pair of black hills gold earrings in appreciation for her patience and guidance.

Three maids (Jodi L., Anita L., and Jeanie R.) sang about the adventures that they had had since they had been working at Castle Dracula. They were interrupted by Moana (Tina Mc.) the housekeeper. As the maids ran off, Bill (Joey L.) also known as Young Dracula, told Moana that the creditors had foreclosed the mortgage on the castle. As they were thinking of how to come up with some money, students from the United States entered, for they were lost, and it was storming outside.

Joan (Tina Mik.) introduced Raymond (Tim I.), Melinda (Rolinda H.), Keith (Troy V.), Rona (Janeen V.), Jerry (Kevin Q.), and Lillian (Rajean A.) to Bill and Moana, and the students tried to find out if they could stay the night. After a long talk, Bill finally gave in and the students headed for their rooms. When the students were out of sight, Bill had a short but useless talk with Dracula (Welton M.) on how he should stay out of sight and leave the students alone.

With strange things already happening, Melinda met up with Sybil (Lynn S.) and found out that the castle was Dracula's. As Melinda left, Dracula crept in and took Sybil away. As Melinda reentered and started to scream, all the students rushed in and Melinda told them what she had seen.

After the students exited to the dining room for hot chocolate, Keith remained in the room to read and calm himself down before retiring to his room. Dracula, entering unheard, snatched an unsuspecting Keith and entered his dungeon via the bookcase. Again, it was Melinda who spotted this action.

Moana and Bill were now under pressure to get the money, as the Wienerschnitzels (Donna S. and Becky C.) were now in the castle and were thinking of erecting a pickle factory. As the Wienerschnitzels were relaxing, Dracula took them under control and lured them to his dungeon.

All the students and Bill were now looking for Keith and Dracula, as the Werewolf (Randy B.) chased them around. When the students returned to where they had started from, Keith dropped in and told them what had happened. Now everyone entered and Bill told the whole story of how he had tried to keep the students in order to earn money to pay the mortgage. Joan then came up with the idea of calling the place Draculaland and to turn it into a tourist attraction. At the sound of the idea, the Wienerschnitzels decided to go along with the plan, and Dracula's Castle had been saved.

Six senior girls vie for title of Snow Queen

The 1983 Snow Queen contest, sponsored by the Elm Valley Civic Club, was held on November 19. Six senior girls competed for the title of Miss Frederick.

The girls were interviewed in the afternoon by four judges and took part in the evening pageant. This included many different forms of entertainment by local citizens and students. The first grade girls also made an appearance as future Snow Queens.

Then the time came for the crowning of the new queens. First the Jr. Snow Queen was crowned. She was selected by her classmates of the freshman class. Sonya Mikkonen gave her reign up to Shelly Gage, the new 1983 Jr. Snow Queen. Then the senior winners were announced. Tina McCulloch was selected as 2nd runner up. Rajean Anderson won the position of 1st runner up. Lona Geranen then crowned Tina Mikkonen the new Snow Queen for 1983. The pageant was then ended with Tina's first official duty, the unveiling of Frosty, who was played by Kevin Louma.

The new queens then had the chance to participate in the state pageants held in Aberdeen. They also will be appearing in community activities.

RIGHT: John Mikkonen, a local citizen, entertained the audience with some musical selections that he played on his harmonica. He was one of the few visiting entertainers of the evening.

Students excel athletically . . .

Frederick placed people in all conference for both girls basketball and boys basketball. Karen Maunu, senior, was picked by the area coaches because of her exceptional playing in both defense and offense. Joey Livermont, also a senior, was selected by the surrounding conference coaches for his outstanding playing. Troy VanDover and Lee Marske were selected to the honorable mention team.

Many football awards were given to members of the Frederick Vikings football team. Kevin Quimby was singled out from all players at the football championships to receive the Joe Robbie award. This award, given by Joe Robbie, owner of the Miami Dolphins, helps promote football in South Dakota. It has been presented to one football player who has shown exceptional ability throughout each year. Kevin was also named to the all-state team for his playing the whole year round. Other awards were given for performance at the football championships. They were to Troy VanDover and Kevin Quimby. These awards were sponsored by Pepsi Cola and were given for outstanding offensive lineman and offensive back respectively. Troy and Kevin were selected by coaches whose teams participated in the football championships.

Also excelling athletically were Lynn Selzle and Karen Maunu who placed in the state cross country meet at Huron. Lynn placed 12th while Karen placed 18th.

... Students excel academically

Frederick High School was represented well this year by a variety of students. Their talents were shown in many different areas and in many ways.

Students were sent to local math and business contests and participated in the areas of Algebra I, geometry Algebra II, senior math, general business, typing, and bookkeeping. Jason Heis placed first overall in typing at the LRC math and business contests. Also, placing were Kim Smith, with a second place in general business, and Jim Selchert, with a third place in geometry. Other students participating were: Tim Irion, senior math; Ann Marske, Algebra II; JoAnn Hoerner and Jerry Selchert, Algebra I; Lee Marske, geometry; Tracy Rohwedder and Paul Kendall, Bookkeeping I; Stan Pence, typing; and Peggy Wells, general business.

Many seniors received scholarships and were recognized at awards' night. These included: Rajean Anderson and Tina Mikkonen, the Hatterscheidt Scholarship; Joey Livermont and Karen Maunu, the Alumni Scholarship; and Rajean Anderson, the Geneve Anderson Blamey Memorial and the John Atkinson Memorial.

Rajean Anderson also received the DAR award. She was chosen by her classmates, and the final decision was made by the faculty. The award was based on patriotism, citizenship, and dependability.

Randy Bretsch and Rajean Anderson received the Legion award. It was presented to them by Mr. Gary Huettl on awards night.

Ann Marske, Richard Schlosser, and Tracy Rohwedder served as the 1982-1983 honor guards for the junior class, at the homecoming coronation and the graduation exercises. During the coronation, Ann Marske and Richard Schlosser preceded the homecoming candidates. The graduates were shown to their chairs, and led to the receiving line, by Tracy Rohwedder and Richard Schlosser.

Chosen for girls' state were Anita Livermont-delegate, and Lori Pence-alternate. Some members of the junior class were interviewed by the Legion Auxilliary. The girls' state camp started on May 29 and ended on June 4 in Mitchell.

For boys' state, three boys were selected by the Legion, two delegates and one alternate. They were to write an essay on why they wanted to attend the boys' state camp held in Aberdeen, on the Northern State College campus. Richard Schlosser was chosen as the alternate, and Paul Kendall and Brent Durheim both attended this event on May 29 through June 4.

Kevin Quimby was named number one athlete for South Dakota. This award was given for outstanding performances by high school athletes in the state of South Dakota by the Hertz Corporation.

The Hertz Corporation flew Kevin to New York City for five days, where, on June 29, 1983, he was presented his award by O.J. Simpson of NFL Football fame.

The eight senior students picked for government day in Aberdeen toured the Brown County courthouse and jail. They learned a lot of how the local government is operated and how it works. They were all students of Mr. Walz's government class, and were sponsored by the Frederick Legion.

“Love Me Tomorrow” theme of prom

The 1983 Junior-Senior Prom was held on May 14, 1983, with “Love Me Tomorrow” as the theme for the evening.

The juniors, along with other students and the two class advisors, spent after school and week hours decorating the gym.

The menu of the evening consisted of lasagna, buttered green beans, fresh fruit, relish trays, French bread, rainbow cake, milk, and coffee. The juniors, instead of having the evening meal catered, prepared it themselves, which had an overall well turnout.

After the banquet, Anita Livermont, junior class president, welcomed everyone to the prom, with Welton Maunu, senior class president, returning his responses to the juniors. Mr. Donald Quimby then spoke a farewell to the seniors, followed by Mr. Steven Selchert’s comments.

The class prophecy was read by Joey Lahr and Anita Livermont and the class wills were read by Jeanie Ronning and Janeen VanDover. Tina McCulloch and Welton Maunu sang the theme song, with an additional song, entitled “We’ve Got Tonight,” sung later by Tina McCulloch and Anita Livermont.

The grand march and a dance to the theme song completed the evening.

Students practice to attend district contest

Oral interpretation is offered to students in order to develop better speaking qualities and the ability to perform comfortably in front of groups of people. Students are basically judged on the clarification of their words, the tone in which they base their character on, the calmness and enthusiasm of their presentation, and the balance of speed in which they present their selection.

Hard work was displayed by six oral interpretation students competing in the local contest held in Frederick on October 20, 1982, and the district contest held in Groton, South Dakota on October 26, 1982. Participants included poetry-Lynn Selzle, serious prose-Sonia Maunu, duet-memorized-Shelly Gage and JoAnn Hoerner, and humorous prose-Serina Maunu and Tammy Maunu. Sonia Maunu, Shelly Gage, JoAnn Hoerner, and Tammy Maunu competed at the district contest. Mrs. Bernice Rollo, instructor, met with the students whenever time permitted to help them prepare for the upcoming contests. Several students performed their selections at Senior Citizens and PTO.

Music provides entertainment for supporting fans

The 1982-1983 Frederick Band, under the direction of Mr. Roger Kendall, entertained the community by participating in many school and social events.

The pep band played enjoyable songs for the crowds at the girls and boys basketball games, and football games. The pep band also played at several pep fests before a game to fire up the fans with some jazzy music.

The band led the Homecoming parade on September 17, 1982, while marching to the song, "Battle Hymn of the Republic." Due to bad weather, the band did not march in the Gypsy Day Parade.

On December 20 and April 21, the band provided pleasant entertainment for the community by playing in the Christmas and Spring Concerts respectively. Also on April 8, small groups in both instrumental and vocal sections, and other solos and ensembles competed in the Region IV Band Contest.

Vikings catch dome fever

The Frederick Vikings started the 1982 season with three easy wins. Due to some injuries and things, the coaches changed the lineup for the next three games. The Vikings lost two and struggled through the third. The injuries healed and we went to our original lineup, and breezed through the rest of the regular season with decisive victories. The Vikings captured a share of the Lake Region Conference, (Co-Champs), by easily defeating Warner. The Vikings earned the right to compete in the South Dakota High School Football Playoffs for the second straight year.

For the first round of the Playoffs, the Vikings hosted Eureka. The Vikings defeated Eureka, and advanced to the semi-finals to meet the Freeman Flyers, who had to come to our turf this year. The Vikings overcame Freeman, and for the first time in history, they went to the Dakota Dome to have a shot for the 9AA title. The only thing that stood in the way was the Gettysburg Battlers. The Vikings upset Gettysburg, and became number one.

Kevin Quimby led the Vikings in rushing by gaining 1,275 yards. Tony Knox and Pat Ellwein had 460 yards and 409 yards respectively. Joey Livermont and Scott Campbell led the pass receiving department by catching 23 for 325 yards and 15 for 219 yards. The defense was led by Troy VanDover who had 191 tackles.

KSDN Player of the Week was awarded to Kevin Quimby twice for his performances in the Eureka game and the Freeman and Gettysburg games combined. Kevin Quimby also was the Most Valuable Player in the championship game against Gettysburg and named to the All-State squad.

"B" team completes winning season

The junior varsity team completed a winning season with some impressive play. They showed much promise as a strong team that will help the varsity next year.

The team was led in scoring by Jim Selchert and Buck Dinger with 174 and 195, respectively. These two also paced the team in rebounds with Dinger getting 134 and Selchert pulling down 118.

After the regular season of play, the squad took part in a tournament at Ipswich. They took third place after an overtime loss to Eureka in the semi-finals. Mr. Darryl Walz coached the team all season.

Cheerleaders heighten team spirit

The cheerleading squad for the 1982-83 school year consisted of ten girls and two mascots. The girls were picked by the students from the freshman through senior classes. The mascots were chosen by the cheerleaders.

The "A" cheerleaders started the year out before school began. They held practice in the summer, so they would be prepared for the football season. The girls experienced all kinds of weather. It ranged from hot and cold to rainy and snowy. They cheered for the team in many victories and only two losses. Thus, the cheerleaders accompanied the team to the dome in Vermillion. Here the Freerick Vikings became the 9AA state football champs. It was an unforgettable experience for all.

The "B" cheerleaders began their year during the football season, so they would be ready for the boys' basketball season. Some of the members got extra practice by cheering for the girls' basketball team.

Both squads practiced weekly. The "A" squad on Mondays and the "B" squad on Wednesdays. They worked on old and new cheers. The girls practiced diligently to prepare for the state cheerleading tournament in Huron. Although, a trophy was not brought home, much was learned.

The cheerleaders ended the year of cheering together at the district basketball tournaments in Aberdeen.

Athletes prepare for high school

The eighth grade basketball team finished with an 8-6 record, which included a championship in the Elm Valley Invitational Tournament. Leading scorers for the team were Jeff Selchert with 94 points, Heath Big Eagle with 81 points, Rheiff Mikkonen and Troy Podoll scoring 40 points each, Jason Rydberg finished with 23 points, and although seeing limited playing, Rodney Grabatin and Grant Kendall played well and recorded 2 points apiece.

For the seventh graders, who finished up at 3-3, the leading scorers were Roger Jung with 51 points, Les Huettl with 36 points, Kevin Ham with 22 points, Jon Selchert notched 10 points, and Andrew Olson scored 6 points.

Pam Ellwein, Julie Walworth, Bernice Hoerner, Louise Hoerner and Trina Crawford were the boys' basketball cheerleaders. The five of them led the support for their team all through the season.

Mr. Beck would like to thank the parents for their support at the games and also those who helped referee and run the clock at the games.

The Barnard Junior High football team had a very successful season. Most important, it was a great learning experience and a lot of fun. The team spent most of their time practicing in the afternoon everyday in Frederick, alongside of the high school team. Coach Darrel Walz, got the junior high team in great shape with quite a few days of training, and he also taught them the many techniques of playing great football. With this training, Coach Walz led his team through a winning season. They played four games with two wins against Ellendale and Warner, one loss with Leola, and one tie game with Northwestern.

The team consisted of nine eighth grade boys: Troy Podoll, Rheiff Mikkonen, Jason Rydberg, Alvin Gerlach, Lee Olson, Jeff Selchert, Heath Big Eagle, Rodney Grabatin, and Grant Ellsworth. There were also four seventh grade boys: Roger Jung, Jon Selchert, Kevin Ham, and Les Huettl.

Exercise helps teamwork success

The 1982-83 junior high girls' basketball season was a good experience for all team members who fought their way to a 11-14 record. Julie Walworth led the way for the eighth grade team with 70 points followed by Pam Ellwein with 41 and Bernice Hoerner with 20. Tammie Mullner led the seventh grade with 34 points, Trina Crawford 24 points, Amy Gerlach 8 points consecutively.

The seventh and eighth grade most valuable players were Tammie Mullner for the seventh and Ann Luoma for the eighth grade.

The junior high girls finished their season by participating in a tournament at Hecla where they earned a third place trophy.

The coach of the two teams was Mrs. Kelly Hinds.

The Barnard tumbling team was also coached by Mrs. Hinds. The entire team performed at a high school basketball game. A few of the older girls executed a routine that they had made.

Cross country track teams exercise talents

The cross country teams both competed in the Lake Region Conference meet held at Frederick. The girls team placed first. Members of the girls' team were: Karen Maunu, Jennifer Wells, Lynn Selzle, Jeanie Ronning, Janeen VanDover, Jodi Lahr, Shelly Gage, and Pam Ellwein. Welton Maunu was the only member of the boy's cross country team, and he also placed high at the conference meet. Karen Maunu, Lynn Selzle, and Jennifer Wells qualified for the state cross country meet held at Huron. Jennifer Wells and Welton Maunu were chosen most valuable for cross country at the annual awards night.

Frederick's 1983 girls' and boys' track teams had a highly successful spring, with the boys placing first at the Lake Region Conference meet, and with the girls placing second. Also the girls and boys both won the Region 1B meet held in Aberdeen at Swisher Field.

Both teams ended the season quite successfully with nineteen members qualifying for the state track meet, which was held at Beresford the first day, and Sioux Falls the second day. To compete in the state meet, the nineteen tracksters had to place first, second, or beat qualifying time in their event at the Regional meet. Those who qualified were: Ann Marske-100M dash, 200M dash; Lynn Selzel-100M hurdles, 300M hurdles; two mile relay (Sonya Mikkonen, Dana Cutler, Jennifer Wells, and JoAnn Hoerner); 800M relay (Jodi Lahr, Karen Maunu, JoAnn Hoerner, and Ann Marske); medley relay (Jodi Lahr, Karen Maunu, JoAnn Hoerner, and Jennifer Wells); 400M relay (Jodi Lahr, Shelly Gage, Karen Maunu, and Ann Marske); mile relay (Jodi Lahr, Shelly Gage, Lynn Selzle, and Karen Maunu); Jason Heis and Dennis Hinz in pole vaulting; Buck Dinger-long jump; Kevin Richter and Lee Marske in high jump; Kevin Richter also went to the 800M dash; Jim Selchert-triple jump; 800M relay (Kevin Quimby, Troy VanDover, Pat Ellwein, and Tony Knox); mile relay (Jim Selchert, Lee Marske, Troy VanDover, and Pat Ellwein).

Ann Marske placed first in the 100M dash and second in the 200M dash at Sioux Falls. The girls' 400M relay, 800M relay, and also Lynn Selzle in the 100M hurdles, made it to the finals. Neither Lynn nor the two relays managed to place in the top five at Sioux Falls.

Trip to dome fulfills goal

The Frederick Vikings ended the regular season with seven wins and two losses, and qualified for the playoffs. The Vikings faced the Eureka Trojans in the first round playoff game. The Vikings scored first and never looked back in an easy victory over Eureka. The score was 45-6. The Vikings then advanced to the second round playoff game and were facing a strong Freeman Flyer team. Freeman scored on their first possession on a 75 yard pass, and also scored the extra point. That's how the first quarter ended. In the second quarter the Vikings came out and drove down the field for a touchdown. The extra point attempt failed. Before halftime the Vikings got another touchdown and led 12-8. After halftime the Vikings had first possession and took advantage of it to rumble for another touchdown. The extra point attempt was good. Freeman responded with a quick touchdown and the score was 20-16. The Vikings soon scored two other touchdowns and won 32-16.

Now the Vikings were going to the Dome, the goal they strived for all year. The Frederick Vikings faced the heavily favored Gettysburg Battlers for the 9AA Championship. The Vikings scored the first two touchdowns and dominated the rest of the game. The Battlers scored twice, once by the defense and the other by the offense against our second team. The final score was 34-15.

The Frederick Vikings had the best support ever by their loyal fans, this gave the Vikings an extra boost. When the Vikings came back from the Dome they were greeted by the fans who set up a caravan that stretched for miles. At the gym they had a giant reception for all, and were very proud to have a football team as great as the Vikings.

New programs and experiences help prepare students

Students received individual and small group instructions in the special education classes, which are taught by Mrs. Portia Johnson, in Barnard.

The Chapter I program, under the direction of Mrs. Waldstein, provides remedial reading for students in grades one through eight. These students receive approximately two hours of instruction per week. She is also in charge of the new Challenge Program for intellectually gifted students, who attend one hour of class per week, in grades three through eight. Also, the Talent Pool meets approximately once a month for a special activity, such as a field trip or a guest speaker. Mrs. Diane Miller, Mrs. Waldstein's assistant, runs the library and resource center on Fridays. She also teaches some reading to students and has classes in library science. In addition, she answers the phone whenever necessary.

Mrs. Melanie Holsten is the speech therapist for Barnard. She also conducts speech and hearing tests in both Frederick and Barnard for those students who need to be tested. In addition, she tests pre-school children and serves several schools in the surrounding area.

New and exciting experiences for the kindergartners were meeting new friends, riding the school bus, and learning the routine for school. The kindergartners took part in the school Christmas program and entertained their parents again with a special spring program. Activities for the year included making Christmas cookies, bread, butter, and ice cream. In addition, the students spent many hours practicing the alphabet, numbers, and completing exercises to help them develop the left-to-right method of reading and writing.

Students tackle fundamentals

First grade students based their itinerary on the exploration of the fundamentals of reading, math, and writing. Through group participation, they learned social adjustment, which played a major role in their education. They also participated, for the first time, in the Read-a-thon that is held in Barnard. In addition, they aquired a puppet theater from a book club and put on a puppet show for their parents.

The second grade was very busy this year. Along with doing their regular studies in math, reading, and spelling, they were intrigued when they worked with spelling bees, math relays, timed math tests, and making their own dictionaries. They also enjoyed learning about the calendar and heroes and heroines in social studies.

Students intercept 3-R methods

The third grade class learned many new things through the year. They switched from manuscript to cursive writing and mastered their multiplication tables. New science books helped the students to discover more about electricity, land and water, animals and their habitats etc. The students also used the computer to supplement learning in several subject areas.

The two main things the fourth grade did this year are learn finger math and make story booklets for the kindergartners. The fourth graders learned and reviewed their multiplication tables, studied new areas of the world in social studies, and learned new crafts in art.

The third and fourth graders put on a dance program and performed for the Aberdeen County Club, the Senior Citizens in Frederick, and their parents. They danced and sang songs for the Christmas program about Germany.

Students advance in various activities

The Fifth grade studies this year included U.S. History, fractions, parts of speech, and the weather. Other activities consisted of learning units on the newspaper, listening, puzzles, thinking skills, and basic grammar skills. Computers also added a lot to the subject areas of math and spelling.

The Sixth graders this year were involved in a variety of activities and studies. A thorough study of careers was very interesting and gave students a look into the various career opportunities. The students made booklets describing various careers, while several guest speakers came and explained their occupations.

Students increase learning ability

Mr. Tim Beck offered the seventh grade class an opportunity to learn more about the different states and varying countries by teaching social studies. The students prepared booklets on a chosen state or country and gave an oral report to their class.

Mrs. Kelly Hinds familiarized the seventh graders with decimals and fractions during many math periods. Square roots and angles were additional mathematical problems in their study.

Mrs. Hinds also introduced new grammar skills, as well as study of various types of literature in English.

With Mr. Leighton Getty as the science instructor, he introduced the students to life science. Other dimensions of life science were studied and discussed in class.

Physical education gave the students an opportunity to learn the rules and skills necessary to play various kinds of games effectively and competitively. This class was also under the direction of Tim Beck.

The students were given the opportunity to participate in the active sports and high school band, besides their regular classes offered.

Serving as class officers for the seventh grade class were President - Andy Olson, Vice-President - Roger Jung, and Secretary-Treasurer - Jon Selchert.

Final grade school skills presented

By using year old history books, Mr. Tim Beck taught in detail, information about the growth of our country, as well as our national government, to the eighth grade students.

The English teacher, Mrs. Kelly Hinds, taught the principles of correct English, sentence punctuation, and other English criteria.

Mrs. Hinds also taught math. The students were instructed in how to work with fractions and percents. Another classroom study was figuring the formula for interest rates. She had her students program graphics for the first graders on the computer.

In science class, Mr. Leighton Getty taught the students how to watch the weather and how to find the relative humidity. Minerals and rock formations were also studied during science periods.

Mr. Beck also taught new techniques and skills, and they were learned and developed quickly during physical education class.

The eighth grade students enjoyed participating in the extra-curricular activities of high school sports, band, and chorus, in addition to their regular classes.

Barnard students shine in their individual ways

Many students ranging from grades fifth through seventh received music lessons from Mr. Roger Kendall. With him they went through much hard work including long practices and drills so that one day they would be in the Frederick band. After going through all required work, or when they reached the seventh or the eighth grades, they may advance to the older levels of playing. Older students also participated in pep band and the regional music contest. A new program started and taught by Mr. Kendall and Mrs. Guidice was a tonette class. This was for all fourth grade students and taught them the fundamentals and gave them a basic understanding of playing an instrument. This also helped Mr. Kendall in choosing the right instruments for the new band students.

Chosen by the seventh and eighth grade classes as King, Queen, Cupid, and Psyche were Rheiff Mikkonen, Julie Walworth, Roger Jung, and Louise Hoerner respectively. A Valentines dance was given for the seventh and eight grades on February 11 in the afternoon. The record dance was chaperoned by the teachers. A light lunch and refreshments were served.

LOWER RIGHT: Some third and fourth grade students work on learning a song in German for the Frederick and Barnard Christmas Program.

Students use free time creatively

The new school year brought about the addition of more Pet Computers for the school. The computers were used for both educational and recreational purposes. Four of the computers, placed upon moveable carts for the convenience of the students, were put on the second floor for the use of the fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth grade students. The other two computers, also placed on moveable carts, were put on the first floor for the use of the first, second, third, and fourth graders. Everyone enjoyed working on the computers in their spare time.

Many students used the Barnard resource center's facilities. In it they found books for their own reading enjoyment and for class assignments. Magazines served the useful purpose of allowing the students to read up on the world problems in order to better understand the world around them.

Students throughout the school participated in the Read-a-thon, held every other year. The students would ask people to pledge so much money per every book that each student read. After they had read as many books as possible in the allotted time, they went out and collected the money. Gold, silver, and bronze medals were given to the top three students in each class.

Barnard students attended the junior-senior play, entitled "Young Dracula," again this year. Many of the students enjoyed the performance put on by the student actors and actresses. Also, many of the students participated in the Jump Rope for Heart contest in which they received pledges for the amount of time that they jumped. The proceeds that were raised were sent to the American Heart Association where it was put to good use. Cheering for the home team at many of the football and basketball games was one way quite a few students participated in sports.

Students kept themselves busy and active during recess on the playground. In the fall, many of the students played football. Activities, such as kickball, basketball, and jumping rope, were played by the students during the spring. Also, the students used the wide variety of playground equipment that was available.

Various activities keep Barnard staff busy

For eight years Mr. Leighton Getty has headed the faculty at the Barnard Elementary School. Not only did he take time out from his busy schedule to teach science to the junior high students at Barnard, but he also participated in the gifted-student program by taking the students on field trips. He spent his spare time coaching the Frederick High School Varsity girls' basketball team.

Mrs. Sharon Bain served as the secretary for the Barnard school. Along with her many important duties as secretary, she ran the resource center at Barnard, where she helped the students find information for reports and books for their own reading enjoyment. She was also in charge of a book fare, held every other year, that was held in November. The proceeds raised at the book fare were used to buy new books and equipment for the resource center.

Mrs. Kelly Hinds returned again this year to teach math and English to the seventh and eighth grade students. She used her free time by helping the majorettes with a baton twirling routine, by coaching the junior high girls' basketball team, and by coaching the tumbling team. In March she took a break in her teaching career to give birth to her son.

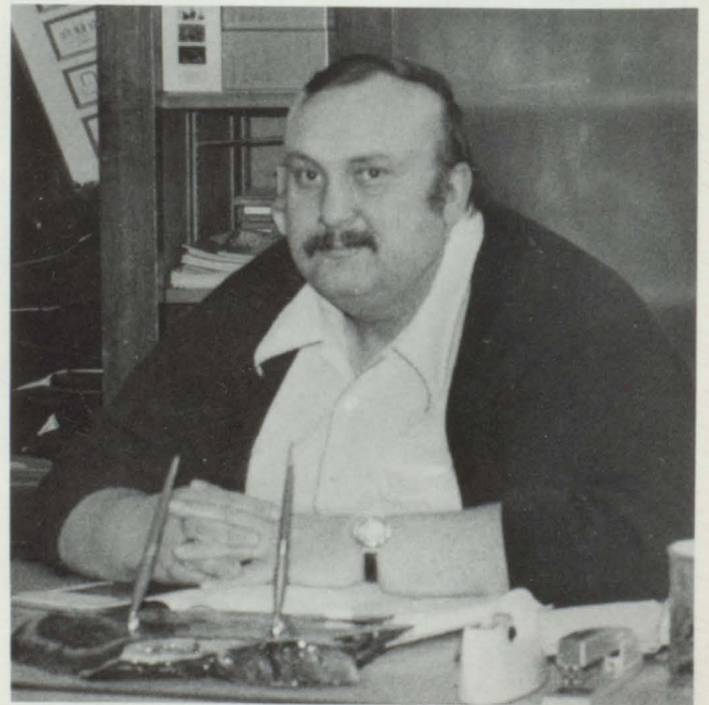

Barnard also saw the return of Mr. Tim Beck this year. Mr. Beck taught social studies and physical education to the seventh and eighth grade students. He also coached both the junior high boys' basketball team and the junior varsity girls' basketball team, along with the junior high track team.

Workers carry out important duties

Keeping the high school and the gymnasium clean were some of the responsibilities carried out by Everett and Crystal Surmeyer. Everett also did miscellaneous repair jobs whenever the need arose, and he picked up the high school's mail from the post office. In Barnard, Ed Fiekens along with his wife, Maxine, kept the school building and the lunchroom clean and also made the necessary repairs to keep the school in good condition. They were all responsible for the snow removal from the schools and the lawn up-keep of both schools.

The meals were prepared and served by Marv Luoma and Ruth Fischer at the high school. At Barnard, the lunches were put in the charge of Marlyne Metzinger and Loraine Krogman.

The bus drivers aided in the education of students by getting the students to school throughout the year depending upon the weather conditions. They were also responsible for the safety of the students. In addition, they transported the football players to all out-of-town games and to the state championship game at Vermillion. Also, they took the boys' and girls' basketball teams to all games played out of town. Students going on library or science field trips, on grade school field trips, to math and business contests, or to music contests were taken to their destination by any one of the six bus drivers. Bus driver, Kent Braa, took the government class students down to Pierre for a field trip through the state's capital building. Clem Braa and Kent Braa also took the vocational students to the vocational school in Aberdeen.

Far away in the sunshine
are my highest aspirations.
I may not reach them,
but I can look up and see their beauty,
believe in them,
and try to follow
where they lead.

Louisa May Alcott
